LEGISLATOR AND CLERK BLOCK PAY CHECK INQUIRY

Rens Appears With Lawrence G. Huegel of St. Louis but Refuses to Answer Questions.

LATTER AT CAPITAL ONE DAY OF SESSION

Makes Affidavit Before Prosecuting Attorney Regarding His Appointment Then Asks to Withdraw It the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 11.—

Prosecuting Attorney Nike Sevier of Cole County today encountered difficulties in his investigation of the status of a personal clerk appointed to the House payroll by Representative Clifford C. Rens of St. Louis, and the cashing by Rens of a House payroll check issued to that clerk when Rens appeared with the clerk, Lawrence G. Huegel of St. Louis, accompanied by counsel, and refused to answer questions.

Attempts by Sevier and newspaper reporters to question Huegel and Rens were prevented by Rens' attorney, H. P. Lauf of Jefferson City, and Rens repeatedly told Huegel, "Keep your mouth shut."

Huegel was questioned by Sevier last night and made an affidavit as to the manner in which he was appointed, and disclosing that he had been in Jefferson City only one day of the legislative session, although he has been carried on the House clerical payroll as a clerk at $3.50 a day, since convening of the Legislature early in January.

He refused to answer questions as to why Rens was renamed on the House payroll when he was not here working.

Burns After Threat of Arrest.

Burns today asked Sevier to allow him to withdraw the affidavit in Sevier refused. Huegel left Sevier's office when Sevier called a newspaper reporter, but was summoned by Lauf after Sevier had requested a deputy sheriff to arrest Huegel and bring him to Sevier's office.

Siver began the inquiry last week after he had been informed by Lawrence Huegel Jr. of Jefferson City, a high school student, that he had learned his name had been placed on the House clerical payroll as personal clerk to Rens, without his assent, and that he had not been receiving the salary.

The name was carried on the roll as Lawrence Huegel Jr., with no address.

Rens has stated he was acquainted with the Lawrence Huegel of Jefferson City and that they were members of the same fraternity.

Sevier advised the Jefferson City Huegel to call for the check on the House payroll, which Huegel did, receiving a check covering the two weeks of January.

When Rens learned of this, he said there had been a mistake and said the checks for the last two weeks of January, made out for $5.50, should have gone to a Lawrence Huegel of St. Louis.

$3.50 Check Cashed by Rens.

It was learned that when the House clerks were paid for the first nine days of January, Rens called for and received a $3.50 check issued to Lawrence Huegel at the time Rens drew his pay as a legislator. Rens said he cashed the $3.50 check, indorsing it with Huegel's name and his own, named as such, he said. Huegel owed him, and forwarded the remainder to Huegel in St. Louis.

After declining he did not know Huegel's St. Louis address, Rens said he had forwarded the money to a third person in St. Louis, whom he refused to name, to be transmitted to the St. Louis Huegel.

Rens last night took to Sevier Lawrence Huegel, 1722 Simpson park, St. Louis, and said this Huegel was the one he had appointed as his clerk. When Sevier called to make inquiries, he was told Huegel had left instructions to give no information concerning him.

In Missouri Only 6 Months.

In his affidavit, Huegel, 21 years old, stated he had resided in Missouri only six months and that his former address had been the home of his father, George Huegel, 3419 State street, Chicago. Today he said that address was a false one, which he had given through a desire not to involve his family.

Huegel said he had obtained the appointment as Rens' personal clerk through another man in St. Louis whom he refused to name, and that he met Rens for the first time when he came to Jefferson City Jan. 11. He said he returned

HOUSE RUSHES BECKER-GARY TAX BILL TO ENROSSMENT

Jams It Through, Cutting Off Debate While City Representatives Are Clamoring to Offer Amendments.

94 FOR, 32 AGAINST ON ONE ROLL CALL

Certain to Pass, but Its Opponents Expect Senate to Alter It So as to Avert Drain on Income Tax Payers.

By CURTIS A. BETTS, A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 11.—Riding rough shot over the opponents of the Gary-Becker $158,000 income tax increase bill, the majority in the House yesterday afternoon engrossed the bill by moving the previous question while St. Louis Representatives were on the floor, clamoring for their right to offer amendments. With consistency regularity the majority voted down the amendment offered by St. Louis and Kansas City Representatives, who had the support of only four or five rural legislators, during a five-hour discussion of the bill. The only amendment adopted was merely corrective of form of the bill.

Representatives Wolff of St. Louis and Joffe of Kansas City, led the opposition to the measure, but on the first vote taken on an amendment, it developed that the proponents held control of the House. A roll call on one amendment developed that there were 94 votes solidly for the bill just as written, and only 32 to be counted on to support any amendment of any character. Twenty-four Representatives either were absent or failed to vote.

Its Passage Certain.

The action on engrossment makes certain the passage of the bill when it comes up for final vote, which may be taken later this week, but opposition in the Senate, confident the Survey bill will be amended to reduce materially their drain on income tax payers.

Corporation Taxes Doubled.

Two other bills of the Survey Commission, doubling the corporation franchise tax rates, were engrossed by the House this afternoon.

One bill doubles the present corporation franchise tax rate of one-tenth of 1 per cent of the par value of outstanding stock and surplus of all corporations, which amounts to 50 cents on each $1,000. The proposed rate is one-tenth of 1 per cent, or $1 on each $1,000. This bill was engrossed by a vote of 102 to 28. The St. Louis and Kansas City members, with the exception of Representatives Keating and Kirby of Kansas City, voted against it. They were joined in their opposition by Representatives Hege, Bamber and Barken of St. Louis County, Tetherow of St. Joseph, Stitt of Grundy County, Harper of Vernon County, and Ring of St. Charles County.

The other bill doubles the fixed corporation franchise tax now provided for insurance companies and building and loan associations which are not taxed under the general corporation franchise tax law. These taxes now range from $25 to $100, according to the size of the insurance company or association. This bill was engrossed without a record vote.

In debate yesterday Representative Langdon Jones of Kenton, a member of the State Survey Commission and author of the bill, stood at a desk at the front of the House chamber. When an amendment was offered, he would announce his opposition to it, and that announcement was all that was necessary to insure its defeat.

Shortly after 4 o'clock Representative Whitecotton of Paris moved the previous question, a parliamentary motion cutting off debate and submitting the question under consideration to an immediate vote. At the time Whitecotton made his motion, Wolff was calling for recognition to offer an amendment, as was also Whitaker. When Whitaker explained that his amendment was merely corrective of the form of the bill, he was permitted to submit it. It was defeated.

Amendment Blocked.

But although Wolff insisted that he was on his feet before Whitecotton, Speaker Nelson put the motion for the previous question, and it was carried without a record vote.

The most important amendment offered during the afternoon came from Representative Mazey of Butler. He proposed that the income tax payer should be permitted to deduct from his income tax the total amount of general property tax he had paid in the year for all purposes.

The amendment would have had the effect of destroying the purpose of the bill, which was to raise

Research Shows State Could Nearly Double Its Income Tax Revenue Without Raising Rate

Chamber of Commerce Suggests Efficiency in Assessment and Collection Equal to That of Federal Government.

The possibilities of obtaining greatly increased State revenue by more efficient assessment and collection of the income tax at the present rate will be pointed out to the Legislature by representatives of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce who went to Jefferson City today to appear at a hearing by the Ways and Means Committee of the Senate on the Gary tax increase bill.

Data prepared by the Research Bureau of the chamber will be used to support the view that the State's receipts from the income tax would be almost doubled if the measure would be upheld as constitutional by the State Supreme Court.

"This bill," Arnold says, "prescribes a graduated scale of rates for the taxation of incomes of individuals ranging from 1 1/4 to 5 1/4 per cent, less certain percentages of $4000, and a flat rate of 2 1/4 per cent on the incomes of corporations. An examination and consideration of section 3 of article 10 of the Constitution of this State, and the decisions of the Supreme Court concerning said sections, will demonstrate that these rates are in direct violation of that section of the Constitution."

"If this bill becomes a law it will be the first graduated income-tax law ever enacted in this State. Every income-tax act since that of 1865, and particularly since 1917, has been uniform in the taxation of incomes of both individuals and corporations. If this bill becomes a law it will be the first tax act in this State to discriminate in favor of corporations and against individual taxpayers. This long record of the General Assembly is evidence that it has recognized for more than 56 years that section 3 of article 10 of the Constitution requires that all rates for the taxation of incomes must be uniform. Thus throughout all of these years the General Assembly has persistently recognized that it is without power, as it truly is, to enact a graduated income-tax law."

"Uniformity in Taxation." Uniformity in the rates of taxation has always been the rule in Missouri, and that rule is based upon common fairness and honesty. Without this uniformity it is not possible to distribute the burdens of government with any degree of equity.

"The graduated scale prescribed in this bill is unreasonable, unnatural and arbitrary, is shown by the following illustrations taken from the bill:

"An income of $1500 is taxed at the rate of 1 1/4 per cent, while an income of $1800 is taxed at 3 1/4 per cent. An income of $4000 is taxed at 2 1/4 per cent, while an income of $7100 is taxed at 3 1/4 per cent less than 1 per cent of $4000, and so on up to $19,000."

"In conclusion, a word or two of caution will not be out of place. Many legislators may say: 'Well, let's pass the bill and leave it to the court to decide on its validity.' For those who favor state income tax, that would be a dangerous course to pursue. It is firmly believed that a careful analysis of the Wollbrinck and later cases will disclose that the Supreme Court, now composed of an entirely different personnel, is more than likely not to follow the Wollbrinck case in its holding that income is not property."

"Federal Force of 68." In contrast with the State's force effort, the Federal Government maintains a force of 68 auditors working out of St. Louis whose duties are to check individual and corporation return to find evasions and errors. There is an additional force of 21 examiners making preliminary investigations. This makes a total of 89 men assigned to enforcement as compared with the State's 10.

"This situation has caused many to regard the state income tax as a 'voluntary tax.' Persons willingly making true returns have paid their proper tax; those failing to make returns or making evasive returns have seldom been found out because of the inadequacy of administrative machinery."

Another way of evading the tax is to make a true return and then ignore the tax bill, allowing it to go to judgment. Many persons are in that way able to avoid payment for lack of execution of the judgment, a condition which might be remedied by an adequate force of state inspectors.

The bill introduced by Representative Chancellor would require the taxpayer to file a statement of his Federal return with the State Commission and also would require strict reporting by employers of wages and salaries paid.

It is the view of the Chamber of Commerce that strict enforcement of the present income tax law, with an increase of the rate to 1 1/4 or 2 per cent, would provide the huge sum recommended by the Survey Commission for an extensive school program and for improvement of conditions in educational, eleemosynary and penal institutions.

Jones fought it vigorously and successfully, though the House was ready to defeat it from the start.

securities have agreed to share the cost of recovery, if arranged, in the form of a 15 per cent "restoration charge."

However, the underworld report permits that the "boys" who looted the bank's safe deposit vault of approximately $1,000,000 worth of bonds, jewelry and cash have disposed of the securities and received $120,000 in cash from some source. The $120,000 figure contained in this report is approximately 15 per cent of the value of the securities.

Brinkman's Statement.

Brinkman, head of a group of minor stockholders in the bank, told the Post-Dispatch by telephone from Miami Beach, Fla., that the missing securities were "in safe hands in a depository."

Brinkman said that he and his associates had had no negotiations looking toward the recovery of the securities, holding that such activity was the business of the majority group consisting of President
May and his associates. The Brinkman group, holding about 45 per cent of the stock for the last 10 years, has sought to obtain control and merge the bank with the Vandeventer National Bank.

It is still hopeful of completing the consolidation plan, creating one large bank for the Grand-and-Olive neighborhood.

Surprise Firm Uninformed.

Emmett M. Myers, resident vice president of the Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland, which paid the bank $150,000 on a burglary insurance policy, declared today he had heard nothing new about the bonds during the two weeks since the Post-Dispatch was told that the holders of the bonds were negotiating through his company for their restoration in exchange for a reward.

Myers has emphatically denied a report that he had received a order that he "would be taken for a ride if there was a rumble" about the whereabouts of the bonds. "If anybody came to me with any negotiations, I would call a policeman," Myers said, denying he had been party to any negotiations whatsoever. He said today he had heard a report that the securities had passed out of the holders' hands.

Lawyers in Case.

Albert D. Norton, former Judge of the St. Louis Court of Appeals, is general counsel for the bank,
was the man who approached bond holders with the proposal that they agree to bear the cost of recovery of the bonds. He has since resigned as attorney for the bank, being succeeded by Charles G. Revelle, former Supreme Court Judge.

It has also been reported that Joseph L. Lemon, a member of the State Legislature and a former Assistant Circuit Attorney under Howard St. John, has been retained in the negotiations for the recovery of the bonds. "If I had anything to do with it," Lemon said,
"it would be in the confidential relationship of lawyer and client."

Forstel, representing the Brinkman group, denied that he knew where the bonds were and said he had received inquiries which he had referred to Lemon.

Catches Coyote in 25-Mile Chase.
HAYS, Kans., Feb. 11.—Pinto, a colt horse owned by Alan Roth of Hays, carried his master on a 25-mile chase that ended in the capture of an exhausted coyote.

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

POPE PIUS ON RADIO

9:30 A. M. TOMORROW

Vatican Broadcast Relay to Be Sent Out by KSD, KWK and KMOX.

By the Associated Press.

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 11.—Pope Pius XI's voice will be heard round the world tomorrow in the inauguration of the Pontifical radio station. It will be the first time the Pontiff has appeared before the microphone, will mark the Vatican's complete independence from Italy in communications and will initiate a policy of linking the Roman Catholic world by wireless.

Eventually, the Pope will be able to talk directly to all his ambassadors abroad, for the Marquis Giacchino, Marconi's inventor of practical wireless telegraphy, is making strong new receiving sets for all the nuncios and delegates in foreign countries.

Tonight's ceremonies will be in two parts. Radio listeners will hear first the sound of silver trumpets at 4:30 p. m. (9:30 a. m. St. Louis time) signalling the Pontiff's arrival. As soon as Marco will leave the microphone the Pontiff will speak briefly in Latin.

The party will move over immediately to the Pontifical Academy, where the Pope will make the Marquis a member. The president, Gianfranceschi, will speak first. Then Marconi will be heard again, with the closing address of the Pontiff in Vulgate, commemorating the event last.

Translations will follow the addresses. St. Peter's Mass will be held, putting his Italian into English.

America was favored almost to the exclusion of Europe in selecting the wave length, 13,84 meters, for the new station, and a considerable protest has arisen from England because such a wave will be very difficult to pick up. The station here accordingly has arranged with a New York receiving station to re-broadcast the program.

The Vatican broadcast will reach St. Louis listeners by stations KSD, KWK and KMOX, beginning at 9:30 a. m. The broadcast originating on the Vatican's new short-wave station, HVJ, will be picked up by the short wave receiving stations on the Atlantic Coast and will be sent over the NBC and CBS networks.

SEIZED LIQUOR BOAT BURNS
Sinks When Being Towed to Coast Guard Near New York.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—A three-motor boat laden with 400 cases of liquor and thought to have come from Boston was captured last night near Shoal Harbor, N. J., by Coast Guard patrol boat No. 145 and caught fire and sank today while being towed to a Coast Guard base.

Lieutenant-Commander Louis Perkins of the Coast Guard said the fire was apparently started by a time fuse, placed by the crew, which escaped before the capture was made. A fleet of trucks also got away to receive the boat's cargo also got away. The fire started as the boat was being towed into the harbor inside of Sandy Hook. Fed by gasoline from the ship's bilge, it resisted efforts of the patrol and a fire boat to quench it. Enough liquor was saved for use as evidence, Perkins said.

CONCERT BY TRAINED CANARIES

Rare Birds to Be on Display at Zoo.

A group of rare singing canaries will be on display at the Zoo's new bird house in about two weeks, it was announced today by George P. Vierheller, director.

All of the birds—12 in number —will be trained singers and each will occupy an individual cage in the patio, separated from the public

only by a low fence, in order that the songs may be heard to the best advantage. None of the commoner varieties of canaries will be placed in the group.

WANT TO LOOK YOUNG?

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you just watch your liver and bowels—there is no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a blemish here and there—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They help bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c, 30c, 60c.

WOMAN'S RIGHTS BILL IN JAPANESE DICT

Measure Gives Them Vote in Municipal Elections — Attitude of Peers Doubtful.

By the Associated Press
TOKIO, Feb. 11.—Women had their inning in the Japanese Diet yesterday.

The occasion was the initial appearance of the Government's women's civil rights bill, which finally grants them equal rights with men in administration of villages, towns and cities.

The bill was explained by Kenzo Adachi, Home Minister, to one of the largest crowds of women in the history of the Japanese Parliament.

The women jammed the visitors' gallery of the lower house.
Due to repeated delays of other business, the bill was not reached until evening, but the women, with kimono sleeves rolled up as if they meant business, remained.

It was the beginning of a new era in the women's struggle for suffrage, which had been waged for 12 years.

The women's citizenship bill would enfranchise all women of 25, also qualify them for election to municipal assemblies and honorary posts of Mayor, with the provision in the latter case that husbands give consent.

Observers said passage was virtually assured in the lower house owing to the majority of the Government party and the acquiescence in principle of the Selyukal, chief opposition party. The Selyukal party was prepared to go even further than the Hamaguchi Government, both parties vying to gain credit for giving the vote to women.

The fate of the bill lies with the House of Peers, whose action is considered doubtful.

Women's organizations are divided in their attitude. Several, although frankly dissatisfied with the bill, are supporting it on the contention that "half a loaf is better than none."

Other organizations, led by the Proletarian Women's League and the Social Democratic Women's League, oppose the measure and demand
the same footing with men, who vote at 20, in the House of Representatives and in prefectural assemblies.

GEORGIA U. S. JUDGE CLEARED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—A six-month investigation of the official conduct of Federal Judge Bascom
S. Deaver of Georgia, resulted in a unanimous report yesterday by a House subcommittee exonerating him.

The investigation was begun after William Lavarre, newspaper publisher, had submitted an affidavit to Speaker Longworth charging the Judge had attempted to intimidate him during court proceedings over Lavarre's newspaper proprietorship. He said Judge Deaver had become a partisan for power companies who were attempting to obtain control of the newspaper.

COST OF BRITISH DOLE
$252,000,000 A YEARThis Is Estimate of Treasury,
Which Warns of Danger
to Budget.By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Feb. 11.—The dole, it is officially estimated, will cost the British taxpayers between $250,000,000 and $275,000,000 during the financial year opening April 1, next.

The figures are contained in a memorandum submitted by the British Treasury to the Royal Commission on Unemployment Insurance. The memorandum drew attention to the gravity of the situation.

"The increase of expenditure in 1930 over that of 1928 was $125,000,000," says the memorandum, "and the increase of 1931 over 1928 may amount to some $225,000,000. Even in the most favorable conditions so great an increase so swiftly incurred would overtax the budget."

"In the present conditions it must be taken in conjunction with the other continuing liabilities of the state, both for the war debt and otherwise, and in these conditions it will not merely disturb but will entirely upset the equilibrium of the budget on the basis of existing taxation."

"And in 1931 the revenues must be expected to fall; the extent of the fall cannot yet be estimated, but the extent of the fall requires to be balanced if the equilibrium of the nation's finances is to be preserved."

Contributions by the state due fund by 1932 will have been the cause of borrowing from the Treasury amounting to about $550,000,000.

Senate Adopts Resolution for Action by Tariff Commission.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—The Senate yesterday agreed to resolutions directing the Tariff Commission to investigate the differences between domestic and foreign costs of production of pens of steel or other metal and of cotton velvet and velveteen, under the flexible provision of the tariff act. The resolution relating to pens was sponsored by Senator Wagner (Dem.), New York, and the other by Senator Blaine (Rep.), Wisconsin.

A similar resolution, previously passed, concerning reptile skin leather for shoe purposes, confectionery and chocolates, was rescinded at the instance of Senator Copeland (Dem.), New York.

The resolution relating to pens was sponsored by Senator Wagner (Dem.), New York, and the other by Senator Blaine (Rep.), Wisconsin.

A similar resolution, previously passed, concerning reptile skin leather for shoe purposes, confectionery and chocolates, was rescinded at the instance of Senator Copeland (Dem.), New York.

COST OF BRITISH DOLE
$252,000,000 A YEARThis Is Estimate of Treasury,
Which Warns of Danger
to Budget.By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Feb. 11.—The dole, it is officially estimated, will cost the British taxpayers between $250,000,000 and $275,000,000 during the financial year opening April 1, next.

The figures are contained in a memorandum submitted by the British Treasury to the Royal Commission on Unemployment Insurance. The memorandum drew attention to the gravity of the situation.

"The increase of expenditure in 1930 over that of 1928 was $125,000,000," says the memorandum, "and the increase of 1931 over 1928 may amount to some $225,000,000. Even in the most favorable conditions so great an increase so swiftly incurred would overtax the budget."

"In the present conditions it must be taken in conjunction with the other continuing liabilities of the state, both for the war debt and otherwise, and in these conditions it will not merely disturb but will entirely upset the equilibrium of the budget on the basis of existing taxation."

"And in 1931 the revenues must be expected to fall; the extent of the fall cannot yet be estimated, but the extent of the fall requires to be balanced if the equilibrium of the nation's finances is to be preserved."

Contributions by the state due fund by 1932 will have been the cause of borrowing from the Treasury amounting to about $550,000,000.

VALUE OF BUILDING PERMITS
IN JANUARY FELL 18 PCT.
$90,652,092 as Compared with $110,614,351 Year Ago; Best Showing in Southwest.
By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—The total value of building permits issued in January ran true to the normal course, Bradstreet's reports, showing a decrease from the previous month.

Reports from 189 cities showed the total value of permits was $90,652,092, against $110,614,351 in December, and $110,614,351 a year ago.

Bradstreet's says the monthly decrease from the comparable month in 1931 was 18 per cent, comparing with a loss of 11.5 per cent in December, and with that exception was the smallest drop since October, 1929.

The organization reports that the Southwestern group of cities made the best showing as compared with a year ago, registering a gain of 63.5 per cent, while the Middle Atlantic group came next with an increase of 1.5 per cent.

At the other extreme was the Southern group, with a decline of 53.9 per cent from a year ago.

The total value of permits in each district for the month of January was: New England, $4,264,227; Middle Atlantic, $29,901,880; Central West, $15,267,811; Northwestern, $2,612,359; Southwestern, $2,264,559; Southern, $6,222,855, and Pacific and Mountain, $13,118,222.

RAKES DEMOCRATS WHO FOLLOW LEAD OF BECKER, GARY

SENATOR M'KITTRICK DECLARES SURVEY COMMISSION BILL IF PASSED WILL RUIN THEIR PARTY IN STATE.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 11.—Senator Roy McKittrick of Salisbury, Democrat, serving his first term in the Senate, today gave the Democratic majority in that body is severe lashing. The Senator was vitriolic in his denunciation of his colleagues for support of the Gary-Becker tax increase scheme and for their failure to give consideration to farm relief proposals.

He singled out for especial attention Senators Wammack of Bloomfield, Williams of Troy, Gunn of Otterville, and Luther of Memphis, who had opposed and accomplished the defeat of a farm resolution he offered early in the session.

The Senator reviewed planks of the State Democratic platforms of 1928 and 1930 pledging Democratic nominees "to do all in their power to bring about equality for agriculture" and to place it "on an equality with industry, labor, transportation and finance." He read a platform plank denouncing the Republican officials for waste.

He recalled his farm resolution which had been defeated. It proposed the appointment of a committee to study methods of providing relief to the farmers in their tax problems.

CHARGES SIGHTING OF FARMER.

"The Senator from Stoddard and the Senator from Lincoln (Wammack and Williams)," he said, "asserted that my resolution was a gesture in an attempt to fool the farmer. The banking Senator from Cooper (Gunn) stated that the resolution was silly. I offered the resolution in good faith, having in mind the platform declaration of our party.

"The position of the leadership of the Democratic party in this body is that the Democratic platforms were mere fillings, something to talk about before election, but too brittle to stand. In this chart and I charge the designated leadership of the Democratic party in this body with purposely and intentionally casting upon the farmers of this State their measurements of contempt."

"How much time has been spent in behalf of farm relief since the beginning of the session? No time at all except that which was used in the defeat of my weak and feeble efforts."

"If one-tenth of the time had been spent in redeeming the Democratic pledges and promises to aid the farmer, that has been spent in the desperate effort to foist upon the people of this state, the darling phantom of Theodore Gary and Charles U. Becker, known as the survey bill, something which would have been accomplished that would have placed confidence in the Democratic party in the bosom of the languishing farmers of this State.

"You may follow Theodore Gary, treasurer of the Republican National Senatorial Organization. You may follow Charles U. Becker as the lamb followed Mary, but for me, I shall refuse to follow you."

"When did Gary and Becker ever aid the Democrats in carrying out their pledges. Their whole course has been to destroy the Democratic party that has up until the beginning of this session been the defender and protector of the people.

"Go on and support the bills they have created. Go on and tell the people of this State that the Democratic party is now in charge of and under the leadership of the two political bosses in the Republican party, Gary and Becker.

"It is not. It is bad faith for me to make an effort, though it may be weak and feeble, in behalf of the farmers, notwithstanding the political desires, hopes and ambitions of Becker and the designated leaders of the Democratic party in this Senate.

PLEDGED TO CUT TAXES.

"Our platform pledged its candidates, even those sitting in this Senate, to a reduction in taxes and denounced both the Federal and State Governments for the onerous tax burden. Yet the Democratic organization here has been taken over by Gary and Becker to increase the tax burden of the people of the State.

"Not a word was said in the State platform of 1930 by the Democratic party about this survey program. No one dared then to support the Gary and Becker scheme.

"The Senators who are now supporting the Becker leadership, the Becker scheme denounced it in 1928 and told the people they deplored the conditions. Yet through the 1929 Legislature and up to now in this Legislature not a word has been uttered, not a line has been written to put into effect any law that would prevent waste, that would prohibit extravagance in the Becker department.

"When, may I inquire, are you going to take a few minutes or so of time from the Gary-Becker scheme to live up to the promises you have made to the people of the State? When is the Democratic leadership going to offer a program that will save? When is it going to offer a program to decrease taxes? When is it going to offer a program that will curtail waste and extravagance in the Becker's office?

"Please you have determined and decided that the farmers are to be left to their devices and since you have decided that you are not going to fulfill the obligations contracted by the Democratic party with the people, I call upon the farmers of the State, the people of the State, to aid me in defeating Gary and Becker in their attempt to lead our party to destruction and ruin."

McKittrick said that in his opinion adoption by the Democratic Legislature of the Gary-Becker tax increase program would wreck the party, and, aside from the ill-effects he believed it would have on the State, he was convinced that if the Democratic Legislature adopted it, the party would suffer for many years from an outraged public opinion.

Following McKittrick, Senator Gunn denied that he was a follower of Becker, and cited the fact that he had introduced a bill to reduce the number of "useless clerks" in Becker's office.

COMMITTEE O K'S HIGHWAY PATROL BILL OF AUTO CLUB

Measure Is Reported Out Favorably by House
Group After Elmer Substitute Is Killed.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 11.—

The State Highway patrol bill sponsored by the Automobile Club of Missouri was reported out favorably by the House Committee on Roads and Highways late yesterday, with proposed amendments reducing the patrol force from 157 to 115 and reducing the scale of salaries after the committee had rejected the Elmer substitute, which was designed to kill the bill.

The report goes to the House today and the bill will go on the calendar for engrossment.

The substitute proposed by Representative W. P. Elmer of Dent County would have scrapped the plan for a centralized State force under supervision of the Governor, and provided for appointment of a highway patrolman in each county by the Sheriff. A superintendent, appointed by the Board of Permanent Seal of Government, would have been in partial control. It was considered a move to defeat patrol legislation, as the Elmer substitute, if adopted by the committee, would have had slight chance of passage.

The committee rejected the Elmer substitute by vote of 24 to 17, then adopted a favorable report on the original bill, with proposed amendments, by a vote of 25 to 17.

What the Bill Provides.

The bill, with the proposed amendments, provides a superintendent to be appointed by the Governor, and 115 patrolmen to be appointed by the superintendent, one to be selected from each of the 114 counties and one from the city of St. Louis. The patrolmen may be assigned to duty wherever the superintendent desires to use them. The bill requires that not more than one-half of the patrolmen shall be affiliated with one political party.

The salary of the superintendent is fixed at $3600 a year and of patrolmen at $1800 a year. Ten of them may be designated as Captains, at $2000 a year, to have charge of 10 patrol divisions in the State.

Members of the force would be forbidden to participate in any political campaign, distribute political literature or work for the election or defeat of any candidate for public office, by provisions of one amendment.

Power Are Restricted.

Another amendment, offered by sponsors of the bill and recommended by the committee, would eliminate objections of wet legislators that the patrol force might be utilized largely as a "spying" force on the highways for enforcement of prohibition laws. The amendment strikes out of the bill a provision which would have conferred on the patrolmen all the powers vested in peace officers except the serving or execution of civil processes.

As originally drafted, the bill denied the patrolmen the power of search or seizure, except to take weapons from persons arrested, and this provision was not changed.

The Automobile Club bill proposed a force of one superintendent at a salary of $6000 a year, 12 Captains at $3600 a year each, 24 Sergeants at $2700 a year each, and 120 patrolmen at $2400 a year each.

TO RAID TENNESSEE FUNDS

Treasurer Testifies About Issue of Millions in Bonds and Deposit in Banks Now Closed.

By the Associated Press.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 11.—John F. Nolan, State Treasurer, yesterday testified that "an organized effort of certain forces" to raid the State's finances apparently had taken place.

Appearing before a legislative committee, Nolan was asked if it had ever occurred to him that a raid was taking place in view of the "issuing of millions of dollars (of bonds) when the State did not need the funds."

The Treasurer said it did not occur to him but "it looks that way now."

Nolan told the committee inquiring into deposits of more than $6,000,000 in public funds in banks now closed, that efforts had been made to throw dust into the eyes of the Republican candidate for Governor last fall when he tried to ascertain the total of State funds deposited in banks in which Luke Lea, publisher, and Rogers Caldwell, president of Caldwell & Co., were interested.

The Southern Methodist churchman refused to answer questions and calmly walked out of the room in defiance of the committee's orders.
He escaped punishment then, when the majority of the committee, con-

Borah and Robinson (of Indiana), decided they lacked authority to pursue the inquiry, and voted down
a proposal to ask for it.

THE KINDS YOU'LL LIKE IN FASHION-FAVORED JEWELS
Main FloorWHEAT DOWN $1.10,
BREAD 1 CENT CHEAPERContrast Developed in Testimony Before Senators on Kansas City Prices.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Testimony that bread has declined only one cent a pound in Kansas City, during a four-year period in which wheat has declined from $1.75 to 65 cents a bushel was presented today in the Senate's food price investigation.

John Vesey of the Co-operative Wheat Growers' Association, said the price of good bread had not declined for four years. It went down from 10 to 9 cents a loaf in 1926. He said there were several bread plants in Kansas City "but they are virtually all held by one concern."

The price of flour had closely followed the price of wheat because "the baker is almost the dictator" of the price of flour, he added.

"Some of them apparently dictate the price of bread," said
Chairman Capper said.

"Yes, they do," the witness replied.

Henry Strude, representing the American Bakers' Association, composed of 2000 bakers, said the price of flour is only one factor in the cost of bread. "The decline in the price of bread to the consumer has more than reflected the saving in the flour cost," he continued.

Stude contended also that bakers have adopted higher standards of production and distribution. He mentioned higher labor costs as one factor operating against lower bread prices.

"For a long time the baker
would add the dough," Stude said.
"Now he tests it with a thermometer."

"Taking a cross section of the country there has been a decline in the price of bread comparable with the costs of making it," he said.

He quoted census statistics to show that the percentage of income in the baking industries paid back in wages was higher than ever before and the average wage was higher than that in other industries.

Capper replied these statistics showed that, whereas the average year's salary of bakery employees had increased from $620 in 1914 to $1375 in 1929, the baker had increased the value of his production from $3490 to $7633.

Capper said Stude would have a hard time explaining why the baking industry had not reflected the world-wide decline in prices of other products.

Stude presented statistics which he said were gathered in a study of bread prices in 51 cities, showing that bread could be purchased at an average price of 5.4 cents a pound as compared with 5.6 cents in 1913.

Elthelbert Stewart, Commissioner of Labor statistics, yesterday presented to the Committee statistics to show the price of bread in 51 cities is higher relatively than the wheat price and also higher than the average price of all other food products. The cost of virtually all ingredients of bread, except condensed milk, have dropped recently, he said.

A mass of statistics was presented by representatives of millers and Government departments to show that prices of wheat and flour today are lower than for years.

Chairman Capper asked Stewart
if the figures did not show "the price of bread is higher than it should be in relation to the price
the farmer receives for wheat and the miller for flour?"

"Yes," Stewart replied, "the price of flour is lower than for years.
The wholesale price of flour follows the price of wheat very closely and the retail price of flour follows fairly closely."

Stewart said that up to 1920 the price of bread was relatively lower than the wheat price, but since then it has been relatively higher.

"How do you explain that?" Capper asked.

"It will keep the Bureau of Labor statistics pretty busy to get facts without trying to explain them," Stewart replied.

Don't neglect a COLD

DISTRESSING cold in chest or throat—that so often leads to something serious—generally responds to good old Musterole with the first application. Should be more effective if used once every hour for five hours.

The famous blend of oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other helpful ingredients brings relief naturally. It works every nerve because it is a specific
"counter-irritant"—one just a salve
—it penetrates and stimulates blood circulation, helps to draw out infection and pain. Used by millions for 20 years.
Recommended by doctors and nurses.

Keep Musterole handy—jars and tubes.

To Mothers—Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

This is indicated by records of relief organizations for January.

Records of relief organizations for January, 1930, and January, 1931, indicate that at least twice as many families were in need of help this year as last, according to a report of Mrs. E. H. Steedman, chairman of the relief division of the Citizens' Committee on Relief and Employment.

The number of families served by the six agencies co-operating with the Citizens' Committee increased from 5246 to 9322; the number of new applications from 2728 to 6526, and the cost of material relief from $44,717 to $78,248.

"If the amount paid in wages to heads of needy families assigned to special city jobs were added," Mrs. Steedman said, "the figure for last month would be considerably larger. Account might be taken also of the value of clothing contributed to the committee. It is plain that St. Louis has faced a tremendous growth in need this year as compared with last. The work of the committee has made it possible for St. Louis to 'keep its head above water' in meeting the crisis."

The committee functions through a joint application bureau at 2033 Washington avenue, and assigns cases which come to its attention to one of the co-operating agencies. St. Louis' Provider Association, St. Vincent de Paul Society, Jewish Federation, Salvation Army, Red Cross and the Bureau for Homeless Men. Expenditures of these agencies in excess of their own budget resources are refunded out of the $300,000 appropriation from municipal funds given to the Citizens' Committee.

Representatives of women's clubs have been invited to attend a meeting at Hotel Statler Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at which the newly organized Women's Division of the Citizens' Committee will present its plan for relieving unemployment by encouraging home owners to do needed repair and maintenance work now. Block meetings will be held at which home owners will be urged to co-operate. The employment bureau of the Citizens' Committee, where more than 12,000 men and women have registered for jobs, will furnish workers.

St. Louis Basket Relief Committee, headed by Mrs. James M. Francisco, has decided to distribute its baskets of food through district police stations instead of from its headquarters at Welcome Inn, beneath the Free Bridge. Distribution days will be Wednesday and Saturday.

POLICE GET 600 GALLONS OF WHISKY IN RAID ON HOUSE

Following up a report that many persons in automobiles were visiting a house at 1812 Belle Glade avenue, Deer Street Station officers raided the place last night and reported finding 600 gallons of whisky in kegs and bottles.

The police also confiscated labels and seals and bottling equipment. A Negro described as John Clark, who was in charge, was arrested.

PART TWO.
SENATE GROUP OFFERS 3 PLANS TO HELP CHINA

All Designed to Increase Price of Silver—Decline Said to Have Caused Foreign Trade Drop.

HEAVY LOAN OF METAL PROPOSED

Negotiations With Britain to Cease Dumping Bulion From India on World Market Urged.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Three recommendations for improving trade with China and restoring the price of silver were made to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee today by a sub-committee that has been studying the question for a year.

Negotiations with Great Britain to suspend the policy of dumping silver from India on the world market; an international conference to reach an understanding of the use of silver as money; and an international silver loan to China were urged.

Chairman Pittman simultaneously introduced in the Senate resolutions requesting that President Hoover carry out the recommendations. He announced he would ask the Foreign Relations Committee to consider the resolutions at its next session.

Result of Silver Decline. The chief cause for the abnormal and sudden decrease in our commerce with China during the latter part of 1929 and 1930 was the sudden great and unprecedented fall in the price of silver, the committee said, pointing out that China's purchasing power had been cut in half by the decline of the metal from 60 to 26 cents on the dollar.

Not overproduction, but oversupply of silver in world markets, resulting from the dumping of large quantities of bullion from melted coin in India and debasement of silver coins in Great Britain, France and Belgium, was said to have caused the silver crisis.

"It is impossible," the committee reported, "to accomplish restoration of the normal purchasing power of silver or to prevent its continued decrease in purchasing power and its continued instability as a basis of credit unless and until the British Government and India announces a determination to suspend its present policy."

This suspension, said the report, "involves a question of great emergency, and it is hoped that the President, through diplomatic conversation and discussions, may speedily bring about its consummation."

Proposal on Loan. The silver loan to China was proposed as "an additional and special remedy for the depressed condition of our commerce with China."

Advancing silver to China for internal developments to be approved by those supplying silver would bring about, the report held, pacification and prosperity of China and an increase in commerce with this and other countries.

"If we can aid China in her internal development," the committee reported, "and furnish her people with employment, they will for years furnish us a market for a large portion of our surplus production. It was testified before our subcommittee

Contradictions in Government.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
THE seat at Northampton, Mass., says: "For the United States to go into the electrical business would be a gross misuse of its powers and involve it in all kinds of political abuses. The thing to do with Muscogee Shools is to dispose of it to private interests with suitable restrictions." Yet the United States Government is spending large sums of money to maintain a vast organization of stool pigeons, spies and enforcement officers in trying to regulate the appetites of the people.

Herbert Hoover authorized $600,000 to be spent by the Wickersham commission to ascertain "facts" relating to the prohibition situation, and then he refused to accept and be guided by its report.

The Anti-Saloon League promised us a paradise. Speakeasies are crowding the filling stations and our penal institutions are jammed to the doors.

Alfred E. Smith was condemned two years ago as a saloon sympathizer, and now the Wickersham commission admits that something will have to be done about the liquor situation.

The Republican party campaigned and won the election two years ago, on a prosperity slogan, and now over 5,000,000 working men have no use for a dinner pail.

The Republican party has promised the farmers "relief" for several years, and now the farmers are relieved of almost everything they have, and grain is selling at the lowest price in 50 years.

Thousands of American families are on the verge of starvation, and the Government has millions of bushels of wheat—but not a grain for the starving.

It isn't our Government that is to blame for these evils; it isn't the times that are to blame; it is caused by the kind of men that the people have elected to office, and the people themselves are to blame for these evils, for they are the rulers.

N. H. FISHER.

Origin of Radio Terms.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
In a recent issue, the daily cartoon entitled "How It Began," explains the origin of the radio expression, "Signing Off," as resulting from a custom of workers signing their names in a book when going off duty.

I would like to make a better guess, based upon personal experience. The expression came into the studios via the technical route. Operators, that is telegraphers, were commonly issued a personal sign, or "sig" to identify them. It was customary to make this "sig" upon completion of work, or just before they took to communication. This identified the operator and was recorded. It came from land wire telegraphy into radio telegraphy and from radio telegraphy into radio broadcasting.

Certain other expressions such as "on the bench," "stand by," etc., are marine expressions, which were carried by sea-going radio operators into the terminology of the studios.

SPARKS.

Holdup.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
A BILL introduced by Mr. Klemann by "request" proposes to charge $2 annual inspection fee for oil burners. Oil burning in our residence has completely eliminated smoke, and we speak from 10 years' experience. Our neighbors who burn soft coal turn out a column of smoke that would do justice to an ocean-going freighter. There is plenty of need of inspection—but put it where it belongs—on the coal burners. The amount of smoke we have in our neighborhood from both private furnaces and apartments readily shows the need of such inspection. We feel that by burning oil we are completely co-operating with the Department of Smoke Regulation. To have a yearly inspection would just be creating jobs and would constitute a plain holdup.

Poland's Debt to Germany.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
I reply to the article by Henry Tuholske on Poland in your issue of Feb. 3. I beg to state that the gentleman has not refuted my statement that Poland should be grateful to Germany, as she owes her independence and freedom to the German army which defeated the Russians during the World War; otherwise Poland would still be an integral part of Russia. It is a fact of this, he accuses the German people of superiority and arrogance and blames the recent turbulent Polish elections on the German people, while the Polish Minister, Zaleski, apologized for the regrettable incidents to the League of Nations.

Let me remind Mr. Tuholske of the fact that thousands of Polish refugees passed through Germany when their nation was destroyed, and were well treated by the German people at that time. Many of them found a home and work in that country, and thousands of Poles are at present employed in Germany.

THE MISSOURI TAX MUDDLE.

In the judgment of the Post-Dispatch the Missouri Legislature would be much wiser to stick to and develop the present income tax laws of the State than it would be to engage in such an orgy of taxation as that proposed by the State Survey Commission.

The present income tax rate in the State is 1 per cent. In 1929 there was collected under it a total of $4,608,933. In 1928 the collections had been only $3,697,489. In 1927 the collections had been only $3,697,489, having lapsed from $4,226,117.42 in 1926. The State Auditor, L. D. Thompson, ascribed the decreases up to 1929 (1) to the diminished vigor of the State in collecting the tax, (2) to an amendment in 1927 which exempted individuals and domestic corporations in Missouri from paying the State income tax upon incomes earned outside Missouri. Collector Koeln, in St. Louis, blamed this change in the law chiefly for a decrease in the collections here from $2,444,949.62 in 1926 to $2,203,347.14 in 1927.

The collections have very largely been what the State has made them. The law requires all Missouri corporations to report to the Auditor amounts paid to all employees or agents in excess of $1000 annually, but the Auditor has had neither a force large enough to go through this great volume of returns nor a field staff sufficient to make payments much better than voluntary. There were at first only four field agents; subsequently the Legislature increased the staff to six, and the last Legislature gave the Auditor 10 field men. It was this augmented staff which raised the collections to their peak of $4,608,933 in 1929. Gov. Caulfield pointed out in his message to the present Legislature that enlarging the field force had increased income tax collections for the 1929-1930 biennium $1,123,000 over those collected in 1927-1928. The Governor added:

There can be no doubt that the State income taxes still are not adequately collected and cannot be adequately collected with the Auditor's present force. The Federal Government maintains in Missouri alone, a force several times the number employed by the State Auditor in this work.

I recommend that the Auditor be allowed more examiners for the income tax department. He has expressed the opinion that if 10 additional examiners are given him, he will be able to increase tax collections, even on the present basis, an additional $1,000,000 or more for the next two years.

It is manifestly just that our taxes should be enforced against all who are subject to their payment, and not be collected from only a part of our people.

For this flat rate of 1 per cent on private and corporate incomes, which might, if it were adequately enforced, meet all the necessities of the State, the Survey Commission proposes a graduated income tax on private and corporate income up to 5½ per cent.

The commission has offered nothing even approximating exact information as to what such an excessive increase in the tax laws would produce.

For this stiffening of the backbone, we give a hearty cheer.

Annoying as such stout assertiveness and adherence to principle on the part of the chief executive may be to politicians who would line up their friends at the Federal pie counter, the people on such happy occasions will be solidly behind the President.

MR. HOOVER DOES BETTER.

On two occasions in 1929 Mr. Hoover sadly disappointed those who had hoped his administration would bring a new order in Federal appointments. Bowing to the wishes of the Pennsylvania delegation in Congress, he appointed Albert L. Watson to the Federal bench, over the protest of Attorney-General Mitchell, who cited Watson's railroad connections and the minor character of his legal experience. A few months later the President succumbed to the pressure of the Kansas Senators and named Richard J. Hopkins to a similar position, again over Mr. Mitchell's protest, in which he called Hopkins "totally unfit" because of his Anti-Saloon League activities. These appointments Mr. Hoover saw safely through the Senate, despite his ringing denunciation of the spoils system in a letter to a Florida politician who had urged an appointment and, failing to get his wish, had urged a fight on the President. "No longer shall public office be regarded as mere political patronage," Mr. Hoover wrote, "but on the basis of public service."

It is heartening to know that the President, after his two lapses, has returned to his ideal of the high standards necessary for Federal office holders. Ernest A. Michel, a Minneapolis lawyer, had the backing of Senator Schall for a Minnesota Federal judgeship. Attorney-General Mitchell, undismayed by his previous failures, opposed the appointment.

A Nebraska Supreme Court record was produced wherein Michel's firm was criticised because its agents were "traveling in the State soliciting employment, haunting the homes of the injured and bringing great discredit to the legitimate practice of the law." On the basis of this, Mitchell assailed Schall's entrant as an "ambulance chaser," charging further that Schall was supporting him in payment of a political debt. A windy controversy ensued, with much ill feeling on both sides. Despite a petition signed by the Minnesota Republican delegation, Mr. Hoover now has spoken out resolutely declining to make the nomination. He has written Schall asking that he withdraw his choice and submit a list of "fit appointees."

For this stiffening of the backbone, we give a hearty cheer.

Annoying as such stout assertiveness and adherence to principle on the part of the chief executive may be to politicians who would line up their friends at the Federal pie counter, the people on such happy occasions will be solidly behind the President.

IT HAPPENED LATER.

A journal of the siege of Yorktown kept by Baron Gaspard de Gallatin, an officer in the guards of Louis XVI and an aide of Count de Rochambeau, has been discovered in Versailles by an attaché of the American Embassy. Giving a list of those killed and wounded and a day-by-day account of the famous battle, the historic record contains among other highly interesting pieces of information, the fact that the French had "the large total of 9300 officers and men" in the operations. Which reminds us that it was after the siege of Yorktown that Gen. Washington delivered his famous pronouncement as to foreign alliances.

THE POSTOFFICE ADDITION.

Congress can confer favor upon St. Louis by voting the additional funds needed for the site and construction of the big annex planned for the postoffice here. The need is unquestioned. It is gratifying to learn from Director of Streets and Sewers Brooks, who, representing the city, has been trying to push the project, that the outlook is favorable. Brooks is preparing to introduce in the Board of Aldermen ordinances for vacating short stretches of Walnut and Seventeenth streets to make way for the building.

Early passage of these measures, conditional upon consummation of the Government plan, may save as much as a year in carrying out the project.

The Government has $400,000 toward the site now and a bill is pending to provide $1,100,000 more. The city is urging Washington to provide funds for construction in another pending bill, and Brooks has requested the figure of $2,500,000 for this. The proposed site, adjoining Union Station on the east, would be bounded by Market, Eighteenth and Moore streets and Clark avenue, Moore being a little known lane east of Seventeenth street. This includes the present postoffice at Eighteenth and Walnut streets, which would be a unit of the new structure.

By enabling St. Louis to handle mail for the Southwest, now diverted through Kansas City and Memphis for lack of facilities here, the new building would bring more business and more workers to St. Louis. It would benefit the community in another way by providing a handsome establishment as a link between the Memorial Plaza civic center and Aloe Plaza, opposite Union Station.

AN OPPORTUNITY OVERLOOKED.

There is no greater jingo in Congress than Chairman Britton of the House Committee on Naval Affairs. Yet the pressure upon Congress for relief is such that we are bewildered by the spectacle of the Appropriations Committee lopping $38,000,000 off the appropriation for our naval establishment.

If the Legislature refuses to adopt such a sensible compromise, it can only bring about at last an impasse in which nothing will be done to improve the finances of the State. It is by compromise that Washington has composed its quarrels in drought relief, and the force of its example ought not to be lost upon Jefferson City.

BLACKBIRDS OF CORNIE CREEK.

As far back as the oldest old-timer can remember, the blackbirds have liked Cornie Creek bottom in winter. Pin oak acorns in the low land underbrush along the winding Arkansas stream furnish winter food and dense branches are sheltered roosting places. Through the day the birds glean the bottom ground and at dusk when hunters come, or later on moonlight nights, take refuge in the trees above. This year there are more than usual, observers say, their increase being food and meat for hunger stricken dwellers in the vicinity roundabout. For, according to a dispatch from Magnolia, the birds are being killed in large numbers to assist in feeding the thousands who cannot feed themselves. Thus, the blackbirds of Cornie Creek furnish a modern version of the story of the ravens of the brook Cherith which took food to Elijah morning and evening in another time when there was neither dew nor rain.

HELP NEEDED FOR THE RED CROSS.

At St. Louis, as in many other places, the unnecessarily prolonged debate over drought relief in Congress had the effect of hampering collection of the Red Cross quota. Now, however, the issue has been adjusted, and whatever excuse there may have been for hesitancy on the part of givers has disappeared. With the Government assuming the task of rehabilitation and of re-establishing credits in the affected region, the obligation of relieving the needs of the moment, in food and clothing, falls to the Red Cross.

A campaign for $20,000 was started in St. Louis on Jan. 14, nearly a month ago. To date in this district of nearly 1,000,000 persons, only 5000 citizens have made contributions, for a total of $133,079. St. Louis has always been generous hitherto in meeting voluntarily the calls of the nation's great relief or ganization, but now it has become necessary for active solicitation to be initiated among firms and persons of wealth.

There is want, acute and crippling want, among 1,500,000 persons in 20 states suffering from loss of crops, bank failures and unemployment. In Missouri alone the Red Cross is feeding 26,000 persons; in Arkansas more than 500,000. St. Louis, we are confident, will do its share to meet the pressing needs of the sufferers.

How World Wealth Shifts

Powers made vast gains in wealth in 53 years preceding 1913, but by 1929 U. S. had surpassed them all; our assets grew from 190 billion when war began to 500 billion 15 years later; now, however, depression is causing shrinkage estimated for last year at a billion a week; action on debts and world finance urged to save situation.

From the Vancouver (B. C.) Sun.

THE United States is today in full control of the world's gold, and in full command of the world's economic influence. The question is, how long will she retain it?

Canada is vitally interested in the answer to the question. The more wealth the United States has, provided it is active wealth, the more prosperous will Canada be. But world wealth is only comparative. It follows world trade and world leadership, and where either is absent, wealth has a peculiar way of shifting. The wealth of a nation, like the wealth of an individual, takes in that nation's possessions, its farms, its livestock, its real estate and industrial capital, based on its ownership and value.

When the Great Powers started their race for world economic supremacy in 1850, four Powers had reached high figures in wealth. Great Britain led with 40 billion. Germany followed with 35 billion. France had 33 billion, and the United States had 30 billion. By 1900 the standing of these four Powers was: United States, 65 billion; Great Britain, 53 billion; Germany, 50 billion and France, 43 billion.

From 1900 until 1913 the world enjoyed tremendous industrial development. England in particular had a tremendous trade with her dominions and with Asia and India, while the United States enjoyed internal industrial development. Before the war tramps sounded in 1914, the wealth of those four Powers was: United States, 190 billion; Great Britain, 75 billion; Germany, 65 billion, and France, 50 billion.

What the United States won out of the war and out of the 10 years' internal and external trade which followed Britain's war debts' settlement in 1920, is best told in the standing of world wealth in 1929: United States, 500 billion; Great Britain, 90 billion; Germany, 80 billion; France, 60 billion, and Canada, 30 billion.

No man, however fortunate and rich, will believe how well off he is until he goes abroad and takes a look at a few of his neighbors. It's the same with nations. The true position with respect to world finance and war debts can easily be seen and understood by even the mystified mind of the masses on viewing the situation from a world perspective.

World finance must be reconstructed, with China and other countries who use silver exclusively, brought into the financial world picture. World trade must be resuscitated and the surpluses now accumulating all over North America can move more freely among our own people, as well as move to Europe and to Asia, to mouths that are hungry and backs that are bare.

If the years from 1930 to 1940 are to be years of world progress and world prosperity, United States men must give today a world lead like England gave the world in 1910. They can. Will they?

WASHINGTON DAY BY DAY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.

ABOUT Charles R. Crisp of Georgia between now and the time the Seventy-second Congress goes into action. This 61-year-old Representative has begun a fight in the House to liberalize the rules of that body which may have a far-reaching effect. A Democrat, Crisp is concentrating his efforts against the so-called "rag" rule which limits debate in the House.

As this pleasant Southerner, members of the House long have turned in parliamentary wranglings. Both Democrats and Republicans recognize him an expert in parliamentary law.

Crisp has made a lifelong study of parliamentary law. The son of a former Speaker of the House, he literally has grown up in a parliamentary atmosphere.

FROM 1891 to 1895 he was parliamentarian of the House of Representatives. And again, when Champ Clark was Speaker, he quit the bench of the City Court of his home town, Americus, to act as House parliamentarian.

In this capacity he was charged with the responsibility of putting the correct words into the mouth of the Speaker whenever a parliamentary difficulty arose. At such times the chair must rule and do it quickly. And the parliamentarian must stick by the Speaker's side until the storm is over.

Crisp's service dates back to the Fifty-fourth Congress. He was elected to fill the vacancy caused by the death of his father, Charles F. Crisp, and served from December 1896 to 1898 to the following March. He was not a candidate for renomination, but returned to his law practice in Americus. In 1913 he sought a seat, was elected to the Sixty-third Congress. He has been re-elected in every election since.

C RISP was parliamentarian of the Democratic national convention in Baltimore in 1912 that nominated Woodrow Wilson for the presidency.

The narrow margin between the two parties in the new Congress has brought forth the demand from the Democrats and the surging Republicans in the House for liberalization of the rules. Heretofore the Republicans have enjoyed such a big majority that their leaders have been able to do much as they pleased. Complaints that debate has been shut off, that the "rag" has been applied too freely, have been heard often

The Good Life

THE PHILOSOPHY OF THE GOOD LIFE. By Charles Gore, D. D. (Charles Scribner's Sons, New York City. $2.)

THIS volume consists of twelve Gifford lectures delivered by Bishop Gore at the University of St. Andrews during the winter of 1929-30. His purpose is to present a survey of the various outstanding conceptions of the good life that have been developed by men in various ages and countries and in the light of modern knowledge and subject these to critical analysis in the light of modern knowledge and modern social necessities by way of appraising their claim to existence. In our day, says the Bishop: "When we have finished our review of the actual developments among mankind of moral practice and theory, it will become some readers as pathetic, and these, may point, in confirmation of their attitude to the veritable Alice's Wonderland of modern physical theory, arrived at by rational means."

Such objectors will by no means underrate the supreme value of the rational method within the limitations of its native domain, and they may even insist that in order to be truly rational the limits of the method must be ascertained and acknowledged.

Also, there will be readers of this volume, relatively few, perhaps, but hardly the least intelligent, who may seriously question what appears to be the fundamental assumption of the author, that if only men can be presented with "an intellectual apprehension" of what the good life ought to be as revealed by human experience then a reform in that direction may be hoped for.

The question might lead to an illuminating consideration of the social process by which a given time-mood develops and becomes practically omnipotent, unconsciously moulding the attitudes of the vast majority to a certain view of life. It might possibly be made clear that it is out of such time-and-race-moods that moral and ethical systems and dominating conceptions of the good life grow.

And if this be true, as some will insist, to attempt the reform of our own dominating conception of life and human relations by preaching the best of morality with the utmost eloquence and rationality, is equivalent to addressing the deaf.

To others the figure such a procedure is equivalent to an attempt to reform a malformed blossom, whose real trouble is to be found in the soil at the roots.

In our case, at least, that soil is a complex economic's surdity to which the boasted rational method that we worship might most appropriately be applied.

What, may one ask, is the Bishop's rational view of that fundamental and prolific absurdity?

NORTHAMPTON, Mass.

RECENT news from Europe is of an encouraging nature. After being suspended for several years the freedom of the press and other constitutional rights have now been restored in Spain and general parliamentary elections have been ordered. Instead of trial by battle and reform by revolution the peaceful methods of representative government are being adopted.

The well-wishers of the German people also have seen their faith justified by the support which Chancellor Brueining is receiving in the Reichstag. It is silencing Germany's opposition and strengthening the hands of her friends. Opposition is less in France to extending German credits and continuing a friendly policy. These developments increase the possibility of a naval agreement between France and Italy.

BETHESDA BUYS SITE
FOR NEW HOSPITAL

$1,500,000 Institution Will Be Erected on North and South Road.

Bethesda Hospital has purchased 31 1/2 acres of land at the northwest corner of North and South road and Eager avenue, St. Louis County, as a site for a new $1,500,000 hospital to replace the present institution at 3649 Vista avenue, Mrs. J. Herndon Smith, president, announced.

The new hospital, which will accommodate 250 patients and will include a general hospital building, a building for chronic invalids, a maternity home, and a nurses' home, will be begun after a campaign to raise $1,500,000. Mrs. Smith said the campaign would not begin until general economic conditions improve.

The site, understood to have cost about $50,000, was selected after Dr. William H. Walsh of Chicago, hospital consultant, made a survey of local conditions and reported that St. Louis County is urgently in need of general hospital facilities.

He also pointed out that both city and county are lacking in low-priced private and semiprivate rooms for maternity cases and chronic invalids.

The Bethesda charities were founded in 1889 by the late Dr. Edward W. Saunders. At present the buildings include a general hospital, a maternity home, and homes for incurables and elderly persons. About 1,300 persons are cared for annually.

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK. up north reached them. On his last visit, the owner heard they were to quit. He knew one aged servant eavesdropped. So in the living room after dinner, he winked at a guest and observed: "I see by New York papers $6,000 Negroes are homeless in the city and that 40,000 slept in the snow last night in Central Park." No more rumbles from the servant quarters.

Not do I believe they were "acting." He addressed her formally and in strictly drawing room manner. Their conversation was that of two clean minded persons over coffee cups. It was such a dismal situation I later questioned the actor.

He said: "She is a lady who is unfortunately cast in a vulgar part. It is no more a phase of her than jazz would be in a cathedral. You may have noticed she smokes cigarettes in our sketch. She does not even use tobacco."

Get a guy like that really mad and he'll push push you!

THOSE who used to sneak up back alleys and crawl through coal holes to land the newspaper scoop look back on our exploits with a foolish grin. On Park Row today the "scoop" or "beat" receives little notice. Instead of fighting each other, newspaper men learned that in unity is strength and in this show sense, a "scoop" was rarely known outside newspaper circles anyway.

THE "scoop" caused the greatest personal embarrassment I ever knew. The home paper carried the headline: "Local Boy Gift for Big City Newspaper Post." The post was a $12 a week cub reporter. Three weeks later I was home again picking my teeth in front of the Park Central and hoping something would turn up in the way of employment.

EARL Carroll tells me that in many instances ladies of his ensemble who did not hesitate to appear skimpily garbed in the spotlight were off stage the most modest and best behaved in the company.

On the other hand many hard-boiled actresses are cast for softy feminine roles. In these parts the curtain call is superbly drawn. Yet, off stage they are as bold as anything. Like stevedores and sailors add to the oddly depressing merriment of night clubs.

A WEALTHY New Yorker with a big estate on coastal South Carolina has a number of coal black employees, reared in the service. Excellent servants, they are paid wages of $20 a month. Recently dissension developed. News of successful brothers and sisters

COMPROMISE ON RELIEF "DISGUISED WITH PRETENSE"

I am unwilling to have the country suppose that I do not know what this surrender means.

The "Benevolent Secretary."

Summarizing the testimony of Secretary Hyde before the House Appropriations Committee, Glass said that the "benevolent Secretary of Agriculture" had proposed to leave to the Red Cross the relief of all distressed who were without resources and had promised adequate credit only to those who could offer security for loans.

The only difference between this alleged compromise and the existing law, said Glass, "is that the kindly soul presiding over the Agriculture Department has decided that, where horses and mules can be fed under the loans authorized by the existing law, he will graciously permit the feeding of cows by loans under the compromise. Even the Secretary of Agriculture has come to realize that it is necessary to feed cows in order to feed babies."

The President says that the pending measure will be sympathetically administered by the benevolent Secretary of Agriculture. Not a word in the compromise or in the President's letter, honestly interpreted, would mean that a break-fast could be given to a human being.

Doubts Dollar Will Be Used.

Glass, who was Secretary of the Treasury under President Wilson, said that the credit features of the compromise were cunningly designed to prevent the wide use of the loan facilities. "I gravely doubt," he said, "whether these gentlemen ever intended that one dollar should be spent."

He insisted that the member banks of the Federal Reserve system would lend approximately three billion dollars in the drouth areas, and that the intermediate credit banks had at least $90,000,000 available now for security loans such as those provided for in the "great compromise."

He said that the St. Louis Federal Reserve Bank had a gold reserve of 75.2 per cent, the Kansas City bank 71 per cent, and the Dallas bank 65.7 per cent, while the legal minimum reserve was 40 per cent for notes and 35 per cent for certids.

"The compromise merely permits security loans," shouted Glass.

The Senate at least had not intended to set up another banking system under inexperienced and improvident jobholders.

"Subility of Philanthropy."

Commenting on the letter President Hoover wrote to Senator Robinson, Glass waxed bitterly sarcastic.

"We do not need," he said, "to ask the President, even with his notable and unprecedentdent frankness for direct statement, to interpret the meaning of this compromise."

"The accepted definition of a compromise is an adjustment by mutual concessions. Here there is no mutual concession."

Glass also attacked the President for the refusal to consider the Senate's proposal.

"He called Government benefactions 'socialistic doles,'" Glass continued. "I stand here to controvert any such depraved conception of the Senate's proposal. He would have the country believe that the proposed action was unprecedented, yet I could fill a page of the Congressional Record with precedents starting back in 1812."

"Oh, the sublimity of philanthropy; it is proper to feed the Turks and the Russians, but it is socialistic to feed Americans who have been overtaken by distress."

Thomas Resumes Attack on Compromise Measure.

By the Associated Press.

Senator Thomas (Dem.), Oklahoma, resumed his attack on the compromise, but the stand of Democratic Leader Robinson for it is expected to assure approval.

Anxious to get this controversy out of the way, Republican Leader Watson said he would seek assension tonight to speed passage of the appropriation, if necessary.

Senator Thomas recommended President Hoover's gift of $7500 to the Red Cross relief fund, but said he could not understand why Mr. Hoover "as an individual would give $7500 while as President of the Red Cross he wouldn't let that organization accept a Federal appropriation and as President of the United States he is opposed to appropriating a single dollar to feed the starving."

"How Can One Get Relief?"

"How can one in need of food or clothing get any relief under this compromise plan?" he asked Senator Smoot (Rep.), Utah, who is in charge of the Interior Appropriation bill, carrying the relief item. "Any person enumerated by the Senator can get assistance from the Red Cross," Smoot replied.

"That's the first admission made on this floor that this item does not provide for food, clothing or medicine," Thomas said. He added that the Red Cross couldn't get a sum of $20,000,000.

"The Red Cross wouldn't accept the money if we gave it to them,"

Smoot said, adding that the relief society would take care of "just such cases" as Thomas referred to and the American Red Cross would oversubscribe the $10,000,000 relief fund being sought. The total of the fund up to today was $7,511,222.

Silver Mining Man Kills Self.

By the Associated Press.

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 11.—Bernardo Lamaran, Spanish mine operator, was found dead of a bullet wound in Cuernavaca. In his pocket was a note attributing his suicide to "the fall in the price of silver."

Jenaro Garcia, president of the National Chamber of Mining, called on Secretary of Industry Aaron Saenz to warn him that federal permission for wage reductions were granted, mining companies throughout the country would be obliged to suspend activities.

PLANS FOR NEW SCHOOL IN CARONDELET O'K'D

Estimated Cost of J. Gabriel Woerner Structure on Leona Street, $380,000.

Approving preliminary plans for the J. Gabriel Woerner School, to be erected on Leona street, between Bowen and Iron streets, the Board of Education, last night authorized Building Commissioner Franklin to proceed with detailed plans. This will be the first school designed under the direction of Franklin, who took office last year.

He reported to the board that it was hoped to express the "cheerfulness and beauty" of the neighborhood, in the Carondelet district, in this building. The exterior will be of Colonial style, with a mixture of the Adam period of architecture, and "very simple and domestic in feeling." Special study will be given the brick facing to produce an interesting and colorful effect. Large windows in the kindergarten will open onto a flower garden and lily pond.

Estimated cost is $380,000. The plans have been approved by the Instruction Committee and Superintendent Gartling. The structure will be two stories high, with 16 class rooms and the kindergarten accommodating 300 pupils. In addition, there will be a household arts room, manual training room, doctor's office, kitchenette, faculty room, assembly room, sewing room and playrooms. There will be provision for addition in two units of four class rooms and an auditorium wing, all at the rear.

The large lot, owned by the board, will afford 157,000 square feet of play space, an average of 175 square feet per pupil.

Friton was directed by the board to continue his studies for the high school to be erected at Kingshighway and Arsenal street.

It was decided to rename the Gravois Portable School, 7306 Gravois avenue, the John H. Schroeder School, in honor of the late trustee of Henry P. Schroeder, a board member; Joseph C. Schroeder, former president of the Public School Parents' Alliance; John F. and Jul C. Schroeder and three daughters.

Mr. Schroeder was born in Hohen, Germany, March 6, 1842, and came to America as a young man. He joined the Union army in the Civil War, after which he worked in a New Orleans sugar refinery for a time. Later he worked in Louisiana lumber camps and various Latin-American countries. Next he went to the Wisconsin and Minnesota forests, but in 1871 settled here. He operated a hotel in the '70s and later entered the retail grocery business, branching into the wholesaling of liquor and groceries in 1880. He retired in 1907 and died May 7, 1917.

The board voted to make Monday, Feb. 23, a school holiday, since Washington's birthday, Feb. 22, will be on Sunday.

WILL RAKES ANTI-EVOLUTION
ROME, Ga., Feb. 11—Tennessee's anti-evolution law found no favor with Miss Frances Andrews, scientist, during her life, and at death she provided her nephew's children should be educated beyond its influence.

The will of the 93-year-old botanist, who died last month, has been probated here, and one provision gives her nephew, Andrew E. Andrews, Dayton, Tenn., $2000 to educate his children "in order that their minds may not be dwarfed by the antiquated educational laws of Tennessee." Dayton was the scene of the Scopes "Monkey Trial."

TO QUESTION WOMAN
IN 3 KILLINGS IN FLAT

Officials Learn She Was Frequent Visitor There—Arrest Made in Memphis.

Virginia Keith, arrested yesterday in Memphis, Tenn., for questioning about the murder of three men in "Wide Open" Smith's gambling flat and speakeasy in East St. Louis, will arrive at Belleville late tonight in charge of a deputy of Sheriff Munie and will be interrogated at once.

Miss Keith, who also is known as Junila Harris and Junila Lang, according to Sheriff Munie, left Belleville in a motorbus for Memphis on the morning of Feb. 1, a few hours after Joseph Hoffman, East Side pawnbroker; Joseph O. Carroll, gambler and former St. Louis policeman, and Theodore Kaminski, a friend of Carroll, were shot to death in the Smith flat at 330A East Broadway in the East St. Louis business district.

Sheriff Munie learned of her departure through an informant who told him Sheriff Munie was enroute to the bus station by a relative of "Wide Open" Smith. Munie concluded that the young woman was being sent away to escape questioning by police and requested Memphis authorities to arrest her. She was taken in custody when she called at a telegraph station for a message from East St. Louis.

Deputy Sheriffs investigating the murders are informed Miss Keith was a visitor at Smith's flat and are hopeful their questioning may disclose she was present there at the time of the murders. Another young woman, also understood to have been present, is being sought.

After the arrest of Miss Keith Memphis police early today arrested a man who said he was A. D. Harris of Memphis. He was taken in custody at the hotel where Miss Keith was staying. Police declined to say what connection he had with the case.

When the flat was raided on Feb. 2, an hour before the three bodies were found on a lonely Madison County roadside, articles of women's apparel and cosmetics were found in one of the rooms.

Carl Shelton, East Side gang leader, was released at noon today, after having been held 26 hours for questioning. He denied any knowledge of the shooting.

Man, 78, Found Dead of Gas. George Diegel, 78 years old, was found dead of gas in his room at 134A St. George street yesterday. A burner of a gas stove was open, but not lighted. Diegel had been ill, friends said.

WALL STREET STOCK BULLS KEEP TREND UPWARD WITH DIFFICULTY

Reactionary Tendencies Appear in First Half Hour and Again in Last Hour—Wide Movers Up 3 to 9 Points Early Fall Back 3 to 6 From Top—Pre-Holiday Profit Taking.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Bull leaders cracked the whip, but barely managed to keep the stock market on the upgrade today, as reactionary tendencies appeared in the first half hour, and again in the last hour.

The list fluctuated violently in the late afternoon. Wild movers which had been bid up 3 to 9 points fell back 3 to 6 from the top, and several shares sold under yesterday's final prices, but vigorous bullish efforts pushed the list upward in the late dealings. Closing prices were irregularly higher, with numerous gains of a point or so, and a few wider advances. Transactions duplicated yesterday's turnover of roughly 4,800,000 shares.

The afternoon reaction was coincident with publication of a statement credited to Undersecretary of the Treasury Mills that early developments in the soldier bonus controversy may not be as favorable as the New York Stock has been led to hope. Much of the selling, however, presumably represented profit taking in advance of the market holiday tomorrow, Lincoln's birthday.

Steel Up Only Fraction.
U. S. Steel and American Can closed up only fractions, after extreme gains of 2 and 3 points. Westinghouse lost most of a 4-point rise. Stocks closing 1 to 2 higher included American Telephone, American and Foreign Power, American Smelting, American Water Works, Chrysler, Goodyear, Johns-Manville, International Telephone and National Biscuit. Copper strengthed in the early hours of the session, lost most of their gains. Columbian Carbon was sent up about 9 points. It reacted and lost most of its gain, only to recover 4 1/2. Case made an extreme gain of 9, but closed up only 4. Auburn lost 7 points net, after selling off 10 1/2. Air Reduction, Atchison, National Cash Register and Safeway lost about 2 points.

Foreign exchanges in the main moved narrowly. Sterling cables were firm during the morning, but eased later and closed at $4.86 5-32, up only 1-82. The Spanish peseta, was again weak, dropping below 9 cents.

Steel Trade Review.
The Steel Trade Review showed that ingot output had been increased from 48 to 50 per cent of capacity, as takings by motor manufacturers had increased. The tone of the reviews was conservative, however, and pointed out that the industry might be expected to coast along through February without pronounced change, as it did last year, so that prices may not be thoroughly tested until March.

The weekly freight car loadings showed a slight gain, if anything larger than the seasonal trend would indicate.

In addition to copper, silver prices again rallied, reaching 27 1/2 cents an ounce, up 3/4 of a cent. This may have been in response to the report of the Pittman committee of the Senate advocating formation of an international pool to make an advance of "silver to China. Immediate results, however, are not anticipated in Wall street, where some observers hold that China already has too much silver, and would be helped more by a gold loan.

The weekly petroleum statistics were unfavorable, showing large gains in crude output and an addition of about 800,000 barrels to the stock of gasoline in storage, despite a reduction in refining operations.

A report that Westinghouse Electric planned reducing its operating schedule March 1 from a six-day to a five-day week and cutting wages 10 per cent was an adverse feature of the day's corporate news.

Credit continued abundant, with outside call money still at 1 per cent, indicating that the upward movement in shares had not required much in the way of borrowings, perhaps because much of it has been short covering.

RAILROAD EARNINGS

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—The first railroad to report complete figures on earnings for January, the Chicago & Alton, showed a net operating deficit of $211,687, compared with net operating income of $61,559 for the corresponding month of 1930.

A preliminary estimate of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific Railroad showed January net operating income of $611,000, against $669,535 for the like month last year.

WHITE SOX OBTAIN SIMONS, STAR OUTFIELDER, FROM LOUISVILLE CLUB BILLIKENS

COLONELS GET TWO PLAYERS AND CASH FOR 371 SWATTER

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 11.—Big Ed Walsh's boy, Ed Jr., is going to the minors.

The son of the distinguished White Sox pitching veteran and a pitcher himself, was sent to the Louisville club of the American Association in a deal completed yesterday whereby Mel Simons, a star outfielder, comes to the White Sox. Clarence Hoffman, White Sox outfielder, and a bundle of cash, also went to Louisville in the deal.

Young Walsh made a good start with the White Sox in 1928, coming directly from Notre Dame University, but he failed to keep going fast enough to suit Manager Donie Bush.

Simons is regarded as one of the best prospects ever to come up from the minors. Last season he batted .371, led the league in base hits and was a fast, sure outfielder.

Ehmke May Come Back.

By the Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 11.—Howard Ehmke, veteran righthander of the Athletics until last year, ran up the popular theory that he never came back. Ehmke announced his retirement last May, but as a free agent is eligible to sign with any club desiring his services.

The hero of the opening world series game between the Athletics and Chicago in 1929 decided today that he arm felt "pretty good" and that he would go to the Athletics' Florida camp under his own auspices, which means that he will pay the freight.

"I'm headin' for Fort Myers about March 1," he said. "Down there I'll try out the arm. If it is anything like what I expect, I'll be tossing them up for Connie Mack. I believe the complete rest I gave my arm has fixed it."

Ehmke had 17 years of professional baseball and at the top of his career was a master pitcher. A few years ago he developed kinks in his pitching arm which made his appearance in the box infrequent.

"I have an agreement with Mack that if I return to the game it will be with the A's," Ehmke said. "My arm feels strong and may, I can make that new ball sing a song. Those raised seams will make it easy for any pitcher."

W'DAY'S COLUMN WRAT'S

He's In Again.

JOHN PESEK, former "police man" for Ed Lewis, later affiliated with the wrestlers of the Jack Curley troupe as the "Tiger Man" from Ravenna, and now passing through the jungles of wrestling as a "Lone Wolf," without any circus connection, is returning to St. Louis Friday night.

Pesek is the headliner of the daring venture wherein two bookmakers, one from Chicago and one from St. Louis, taking up PESEK.

The promoters conceived the idea at short notice, arranged a card overnight, engaged the Arena only yesterday and will put on the ticket sale only two days in advance of the show.

The card announced involves only two names known to this community—Jack Sherry and John Pesek. Considering the overhead of handling the Arena, the fact that Commissioner Seneca Taylor denied the invaders the right to sell 25-cent seat tickets and that he limited the 50 and 75 cent "passes" to 1000, it seems probable that the daring gamblers behind the venture are going to be taken for a ride financially. Only the magic of Pesek's name can overcome all the handicaps involved. A repeat boxing show at the Arena had $323 paid admissions but LOST money.

Young Pesek made a good start with the White Sox in 1928, coming directly from Notre Dame University, but he failed to keep going fast enough to suit Manager Donie Bush.

Simons is regarded as one of the best prospects ever to come up from the minors. Last season he batted .371, led the league in base hits and was a fast, sure outfielder.

Ehmke May Come Back.

By the Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 11.—Howard Ehmke, veteran righthander of the Athletics until last year, ran up the popular theory that he never came back. Ehmke announced his retirement last May, but as a free agent is eligible to sign with any club desiring his services.

The hero of the opening world series game between the Athletics and Chicago in 1929 decided today that he arm felt "pretty good" and that he would go to the Athletics' Florida camp under his own auspices, which means that he will pay the freight.

"I'm headin' for Fort Myers about March 1," he said. "Down there I'll try out the arm. If it is anything like what I expect, I'll be tossing them up for Connie Mack. I believe the complete rest I gave my arm has fixed it."

Ehmke had 17 years of professional baseball and at the top of his career was a master pitcher. A few years ago he developed kinks in his pitching arm which made his appearance in the box infrequent.

"I have an agreement with Mack that if I return to the game it will be with the A's," Ehmke said. "My arm feels strong and may, I can make that new ball sing a song. Those raised seams will make it easy for any pitcher."

LOUISVILLE AND CHICAGO FAVOR ST. LOUIS FOR 1932 PIN EVENT

By Herman Wecke.

St. Louis' chances of obtaining the 1932 tournament of the American Bowling Congress were decidedly improved yesterday when word was received by St. Louis officials that the Louisville Association had pledged its support to this city. Chicago recently instructed its delegates to vote for St. Louis at the meeting in Buffalo next month.

He just couldn't. He was the come-for-a-touch that night in sports. So, it was not to me when he went off the breezes and disappeared. Of course it was the old stamp, the Argentine. Just get it out of his system.

Commonplace.

It was out there on the Tex only wanted the when it was red hot.

After the Willard fight, Pollock guaranteed Moran to fight Jack Dillon at Marion Park, Brooklyn, and terribly out of condition, sweet plastering from the Tex, only mention this fight because of the fact that a young Tex championship ambitions back of his head, sat on the outside that ball park, unable to get in and knew him. That young man, Dempsey. He had come from New York from the West, ring laurels. He had as a good as Jack Price, just as un- Dempsey himself.

Tex Dempsey got match Andreu Anderson and when Johnston, the latter's manager, Andrew for letting him like this unknowns.

Just as sharp shooting gave St. Louis a victory in the game played at St. Louis, so did their inability to hit baskets here cost them another win. Even the crack shots were unable to find the basket with any degree of accuracy.

Highfill Is Scoring Ace.

The two players who led the home team to a victory before a crowd that filled State Gymnasium when nose bashed in. He was a hombu if ever there was one. Johnny Sudenberg had Dempsey's nose and Suden- right have earned undying respect for having done so had he that Dempsey was later to a ring immortal.

Burt Kenney and then their Johnson were Dempsey's opponents, but though up a great losing battle, three broken ribs in a lit- tle club, he hadn't attracted any but a few of the guard who began to talk the likely looking kind in the City. How likely, in honor of Fate and her queen of having him sitting out on the pine, unable to get in to celebrated Mr. Francis Moran take a belt from Tex Dillon!

ADDITIONAL SPORT NEWS

CUBS WILL PLAY SOCCER TO GET LEGS IN SHAPE, HORNSBY SAYS

By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 11.—So far as their manager, Rogers Hornsby, is concerned, the Chicago Cubs may play golf at their Catalina Island spring training camp—after the day's work is done—but the chances are that soccer will be their only diversion.

In outlining some training rules for the team when it reaches the island Feb. 17, the Rajah said today he would put no restrictions on golf.

"I don't intend to baby the team along," said Hornsby. "We are all going to work and work hard. While I don't think mixing golf with baseball is good for a player, it's O.K. with me after the day's workout is finished—if they care to play."

With this off his mind, Hornsby spent most of his time of spring training "I think we'll try soccer this spring. I saw some games at St. Louis and it struck me that this was the game to get the legs and wind in condition.

"Take the pitchers, for example. I expect them to be able to do five innings without straining themselves when we launch our exhibition series March 13."

Hornsby is convinced he has a better hurling staff than was on the Cub roster last season. He expects much of Jackie May, Cincinnati, and Lester Sweetland, Philadelphia, a pair of left-handers, and Robert Smith, Boston, new acquisitions.

Six Yankees Unsigned.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Ed Barrow, business manager of the New York Yankees, has abandoned his dignified silence long enough to say that six Yankees have not yet come to terms.

He declined to reveal who they were, but by process of elimination news gatherers decided upon Lou Gehrig and Lynn Lary, infielders; Herb Pennock, Lou McEvoy and Frank Barnes, pitchers, and Fred Walker, outfielder.

The New York Giants, however, still maintain their policy of declining to say who has and who has not signed. The only acknowledged holdout is Bill Terry, clutching first baseman.

Auto Driving Is Taboo.
CHICAGO, Feb. 11.—Among the things members of the Chicago White Sox will not do during the training season will be driving automobiles.

Manager Donie Bush today placed a ban on automobiles, with the comment that he "hunted baseball players all over Texas" last year on jumps from the scene of one exhibition game to another. This year the boys will do their going and coming by rail.

Hot Springs, Ark., Feb. 11.—Hot Springs has assumed its annual role of a baseball training camp this year with the addition of two more indoor baseball fields for ball players here for preconditioning.

Ray Ross, star Brooklyn Robins pitcher and Al Simmons, heavy-hitting Philadelphia Athletic outfielder, were the two latest arrivals, getting in yesterday.

Moss joined Sam Rice, Washington outfielder, in two rounds of golf daily as the major part of their training. Others play golf, climb mountains and take thermal baths to get in condition.

Rice said yesterday he would be joined within the next few days by five of his teammates headed by Fred Marberry, Senator hurler.

75 PER CENT OF PROCEEDS FOR SILVER SKATES TO GO TO UNEMPLOYED

The unemployed will benefit by the cold weather in more ways than one, as the Silver Skates program booked on Grand Basin's West Park, and postponed on account of insufficient ice will be skated for charity at the Winter Garden next Tuesday night. Earl Reffel, manager of the ice palace, has donated the Winter Garden and all the help necessary to accommodate the spectators.

The admission will be 50 cents and 75 per cent of the gross receipts will be turned over to Chief Gerks' unemployed fund. The other 25 per cent will go to the skating club to send local stars to the national indoor championship meet at Chicago, Feb. 27 and 28.

Speed skaters from Chicago and Detroit will be guests of the Missouri Skating Association at the Silver Skates meet.

JACKIE HORNERS WINS FROM MATTY MICHAELS.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Feb. 11.—Jackie Horner of St. Louis won over Matty Michaels in a smashing 10-round bout here last night, for Horner's second consecutive victory since his knox by Billy Townsend. He meets Joe Trippie over Erie, Pa., Friday night, with Jack Dempsey as referee.

Skating Races Tonight.

The final races before the Silver Skates Carnival will be started this afternoon and evening at the Winter Garden. The races are all 440-yard sprints. The junior and juvenile skaters' race at 5 o'clock and the evening program, beginning at 10:30, includes the class "A" and "B" girls, the intermediate boys and the classes "A," "B" and "C" seniors.

Missouri Five Beats Creighton

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 11.—Two Big Six basketball teams, Missouri and Iowa State won their interconference titles with Missouri Valley rivals last night, the Tigers taking a 25 to 19 victory from Creighton, while the Cyclones overcame Drake, 23 to 20.

The facts are, however, that at one time or another Pesek has beaten most of the leading wrestlers now active in the country and he is still under 40 years old and in good condition. He is one of the few wrestlers possessing the "insides" to go through with a finish match putting up his own money as a bet.

A Match for "Blood."

BOUT the last instance of two wrestlers of prominence participating in a "shooting" match for their own hard-earned cash took place between Pesek and Charley Hansen a few years ago.

That was a classic and attracted all those "sports" who followed wrestling whenever they suspected that a struggle was to be for "blood" rather than for showmanship purposes.

Hansen was an upcoming wrestler. He had surprised and almost overpowered the tremendous champion, Stanislaus Zbyszko, in a bout at Nashville. Hansen wasn't supposed to be a bad boy, on that occasion, but he decided that Zbyszko's title was worth shooting for, so he set sail.

The old man resisted him for three hours, but was tiring when the referee intervened and stopped the show because "it was getting too late," so the story goes.

Hansen's stock soared and it wasn't long afterwards that Hansen and Pesek were matched for $2500 a side and the gate money.

Hansen was no match for the wiry and lightning-fast Pesek, who tossed his rival two falls in around half an hour.

Had the Title—a Moment.

PESEK himself held the title a few years ago, in Los Angeles—for about a minute. That was when Joe Fletcher was still champion—his last title reign. Pesek tried to pull a Hansen on Fletcher.

In other words, instead of making a "courtesy" match of it he decided to see how good Fletcher was. He found out. According to accounts he pinned Fletcher's shoulders twice. He was proclaimed champion, only to have the referee reverse himself little later and give the victory to Fletcher "be cause Pesek had committed a foul on the last fall."

BEARS ENTER SEVEN EVENTS IN ILLINOIS RELAY MEET, MARCH 14

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 11.—Illinois usually provides each Big Ten basketball championship race with a stunning upset and the current struggle finds no exception.

On their home floor last night, the Illini turned in the biggest upset of the year by dropping Purdue's rehabilitated team, 26 to 22. It was the first victory in six conference games for Illinois and the best destroyed the last Durdans' hope of retaining the title won last year with 10 straight victories. Furthermore, it made Northwestern's record of six successive triumphs look bigger and better.

Action in the championship race will open again Saturday night with four games—Minnesota at Wisconsin, Northwestern at Chicago, Illinois at Iowa and Indiana at Purdue.

SHOW STAGED FOR VISITING RETAILERS

Some of the spring and summer fabrics, and the lines of the newest designs, as they come from the costumers, are shown on this page.

Black and white, it is predicted, will be very popular as a contrast to the highly colored material which also will be worn.

A pleasing variety is shown in this group of informal spring attire. Hats conform with the general color scheme, it will be noticed.

A novelty in fabric. The sleeve design is a bit unusual, as well.

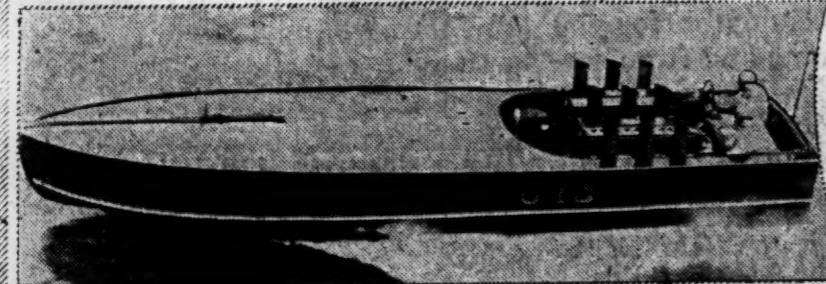

For the afternoon party or bridge gathering.

An ensemble and an afternoon costume.

NEW TYPE PLANE CAN LAND SLOWLY

JAY GOULD'S GRANDSON

Earl McClary, who designed this craft with engine in rear instead of front, has brought it down from the air when moving at only 30 miles an hour.

Frank M. Gould, son of Edwin Gould, photographed with Mrs. Gould as he arrived on his yacht at Florida resort.

This is the ship, anchored off the Florida coast, which provides dancing, games of skill and chance, and other entertainment far from the reach of officers of the law. Speed boats take passengers out from the shore at a dollar a head. The remainder of the day is in the hands of Lady Luck.

THE AGE OF YOUTH

by Arthur Somers Roche

CHAPTER NINE.
GRANBY surrendered her to Mr. Fairleigh. "This," said Fairleigh, "is the highest compliment I've paid a girl in years."

"You don't dance often?" she asked.

"Only when something irresistibly lovely comes along and I feel an overwhelming desire to try my hand at flirtation."

"Are you good at it?" she inquired.

"Superb—but slightly out of practice. But you must pretend that I'm excellent at it. June will be annoyed otherwise."

"June?"

"The woman who was lucky enough to draw me as a matrimonial prize, Mrs. Fairleigh herself. Jealous, you know."

"Not really," said Donna.

"Frightfully. Of other men's successful girls. Many a time she says to me, 'Fred, old thing, you must buck up. Other men with a tenth of your charm are besieged by girls. None of them look at you. It makes it seem as if I didn't get a man worth very much if no other woman wants him."

He reversed and pivoted skillfully.

"Now," he went on, "June likes you. But unless you seem to get hot and bothered over me, she'll not think much of your good taste—yet get it?"

"Shall I begin by squeezing your hand?" laughed Donna.

"Well, that's a beginning," he conceded. "But if you should kiss me, right here as we're dancing, and then run crying to my wife and tell her that I'm just too irresistible—

"She might think it presumptuous of me—the first time I met you. Shall we postpone it a while?"

F AIRLIGH grinned.

"You're distinctly good news,

Miss Raynor. Quite. And you play bridge, June tells me."

"Oh, you have confidences with each other?" chaffed Donna.

"Absolutely. The woman can't keep anything from me. Told me you played contract. If you should confide in her—now, never say I haven't warned you—if you should shyly confess to her that your love for me was too big a thing to tell me in—

"And happily," added Donna.

"That, of course," he agreed.

"And if I told you, you'd tell her."

"Boastfully," he chuckled.

He relinquished her reluctantly at the end of the dance. Young Blaisdell, who was making himself unpopular with his hostess by endeavoring to evade every dance that he couldn't have with Donna, was instantly beside her.

But too much had happened to night. Donna wanted to be alone, to think. So, despite the misery on Don Blaisdell's face, she insisted on being taken home. She went to say goodbye to Mrs. Fairleigh.

"These tired business men," said Mrs. Fred. "My husband—too worn out for relaxation—you're his interest in life now, Miss Raynor. He's been telling me all about it."

"He told me the way to your heart was through his," smiled Donna. "He seemed to know the road."

Mrs. Fairleigh laughed, murmured something about seeing Donna soon and Donna turned away with the consciousness of having made good with the Fairleighs. If there wasn't the complications of Ran Granby's return...

corously at the door of her apartment. She permitted him to hold her hand a trifle longer than was necessary, and the happiness on his face almost frightened her.

Jennie brought in breakfast at 8:30, to find her mistress was bathed and dressed and beautified against the day.

"I thought you were on a party last night, you'd sleep late," the maid apologized. "So I'm half an hour behind time with breakfast. You didn't ring."

"I didn't feel hungry," said Don. "A bit of a headache. All gone now, though," she added hastily. Jennie was one who not merely believed in old-fashioned home remedies, but was never so happy as when administering them. She could do so many things for a headache that one completely forgot the occasion for the treatment before the cure was really begun. Which, perhaps, was a tribute to the cure.

Jennie lingered, prepared to do the matter, but the ringing of the telephone fortunately took her mind off as her body away from the prospective patient.

It was Ran Granby, and Donna felt quick irritation as she recognized his voice. After all, they'd made an agreement. Even if it were one-sided, why couldn't he be sportsman enough to abide by it? To call her before 9 on the very next morning after he'd encountered her. . . . But he had a legitimate excuse.

"Talked with Mrs. Fredbie last night. Found she had an open date tonight and so did I. How about dining with them and playing bridge?"

"I told you," she said sternly, "that I didn't want you to ask her."

Constance Bennett ON HER Second Million

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 9.—CONSTANCE BENNETT shrugged her shoulders. "Three hundred thousand dollars for ten weeks' work," she mused, not in the least excited. Her contract with Warner Brothers—First National to make two pictures during her forthcoming "vacation" from Pathé, working six hours a day and six days a week, is signed, sealed with gold stickers and tucked away in the bank.

$500,000 for ten weeks.
$50,000 per week.
$5,000 per day.
$1,250 per hour.
$12.50 per minute.
25 cents per second.

Her eyes twinkled with interest as it was figured out on a studio stage. She hadn't thought of the scale before. The tidy little sum will join forces with the million Constance received from Phil Plant through her divorce settlement in 1928. When she gets all her regular salary from Pathé this year, the two-million-mark will be near.

"The astrologers say I am a child of destiny," Constance said in mock humor. "We all like to hear those things whether they are true or not. I think I am a child of work. I'm trying to work out my own destiny, if I can. At least, I'm helping it along."

SYNOPSIS.
H OPELESS because of her failure to make decent living, New York City pretty Donna Raynor writes to Randolph Granby, bachelor: "I could get a rich husband if I had the proper setting. It would cost a thousand and a month and I'd need two years to get the proper man. Will you give it to me?"

Intrigued by the girl's personal and her unconventional ideas, Granby accepts her proposal. Through his brokers Donna receives $25,000; Granby prepares to sail for France, and Donna leaves her shabby hotel for a more expensive address in the exclusive fifties.

Shortly after she retires, a handsome young man, intoxicated enters Donna's apartment. "Believe I'll marry you," says the youthful visitor, who, Donna learns, is none other than Frank Gardner, wealthiest and most sought-after bachelor in America.

Next morning Gardner speaks orchids. Donna refuses to speak with him. She arranges to take singing lessons from Mme. Galere, whose parents are most of the Junior League.

It is in the middle of the social swim. At the Fairleigh home she meets Granby again, also Frank Gardner, who asks: "How would you like another proposal from me?"

Gardner displays jealousy. Granby, quietly, is evidently more than ever in love with Donna. The situation is tense.

"I'm a hound for 'em!" she exclaimed.

that Mme. Galere was, she took her art seriously, and permitted no pupil to be lax or lazy.

D ONA picked up a morning paper. Turning the pages idly, she saw a picture of her and Sue, taken at the races yesterday. She hadn't even been aware that the photographer had leveled his camera at her. It was a good picture. When she arrived home she'd cut it out and pasted it in a book. Her first newspaper picture.

Then her eyes ran down an adjacent column, the column conducted by an ex-butler for servants, but labeled "Society." As mean and low-label laws would permit and the ex-butler could imagine. It was signed by a nom de plume—Mr. Manhattan.

The first paragraph caught her, struck at her, bruised and stabbed her.

"Who is putting up the money, society would like to know, for the unknown young woman who last week rented the East Side apartment of the well-known society girl who is, at present abroad? She seems to have an entree, but who, really knows who and what she is and who pays her bills? Among many others, Mr. Manhattan would like to know."

And she had thought her position impregnable!

Mo. Mother's Lucky Find

WHEN we find that some slight adjustment makes a marvelous improvement in a child we wonder why we hadn't thought before to give the child this help.

A good example is the experience of Mrs. E. Keller, 4436 Delor St. Louis. She says: "My little girl was doing fairly well but I noticed she didn't eat like she should and didn't seem to have much energy."

"I wanted to do something for her, and a friend recommended California Fig Syrup, so I gave her some. Aileen improved so much I wonder why I didn't do something for her stomach and bowels before. It relieved her sluggishness, gave her a good appetite and plenty of energy."

To point up a child's appetite, increase energy and strength, assist digestion and assimilation, there's nothing more effective than pure vegetable California Fig Syrup. Doctor advised its use for children's diseases during colds and childhood's diseases, or whenever unpleasant breath, coated tongue, headaches, listlessness, etc., warn of constipation.

The syrup always bears the name California. So get it for that when buying. At all drug stores.

Ridiculing Fear.
EVEN in this day of comparative enlightenment, there are still many parents who believe the best way to make a child overcome his fear is to laugh at them.

"They are perhaps deceived because this method frequently makes a child behave as if he were still afraid. A little sympathetic insight would reveal, however, that he has only hidden his fear because of the even greater fear of being laughed at.

This suppression of fear is especially hurtful. When crowded below the surface, it influences the child's conduct not only in relation to the particular situation which originally caused it, but in relation to all those in any way associated with it.

Thus his whole personality may become colored with the fear element. Added to this is a feeling of shame and inferiority caused by being made the subject of ridicule.

One cannot laugh a child's fear out of him. One can only make him ashamed to show it. One has not cured him of this fear, but made him feel inferior. His self-esteem has been hurt, and his confidence impaired.

The parent who finds himself using this method may well examine his own motives. He will be surprised to find that behind the button where they see a book or object where they openly displayed and to read the article's withdrawal within 24 hours.

"Our request is promptly granted," said the Abbe Petit Langlade, militant crusader, who heads the street-cleaning movement and who carries 15 medals for bravery in the trenches on his chest.

DISCLAIMING any connection with Puritanism or Comstockism, Father Langlade declared that he is particularly anxious that children going and coming from school shall not have their mind set upon him, his wife, or his parents.

Because his own parents were harsh and tactless, he may very well upon his child, in the form of ridicule, the pent-up aggressiveness which in his own childhood he was unable to express toward those authority.

The Abbe Bethlehem, a giant priest well known on the boulevards, has long since abandoned trying to persuade shopkeepers and small owners to be voluntary with wares he confiscates.

Whenever he spots a magazine with too frank a display of femininity on the cover he advances without hesitation and tears it to shreds. His personal appearance, which is that of a prize fighter, keeps his victims from bodily retaliation. But he is invariably arrested for destruction of property and made to pay the price of the destroyed magazine or book.

After 59 such raids and an equal number of arrests in the course of a year the Abbe has so far succeeded in his campaign that few book stall keepers venture to display their more suggestive literature openly. Several Paris newspapers betray considerable indignation over the unauthorized publications of the clerical bands.

They suspect that the Abbes have the tacit support of the police chiefs, especially that of M. Jean Chilane, the Prefect of Paris, who has done more than any other man in a hundred years to take away the smile of Paris. It is charged. This is said in reference to M. Chilane's campaign to rid the city of undesirable characters. Not since a wave of prudishness struck Paris under the Directoire, just preceding Napoleon's advent, has the city offered such a mournful aspect. Cafes are more and more adopting the custom of closing at midnight. The "grand" boulevards are deserted by 10 in the evening and even Montmartre, for ages the stronghold of joy, is dead as a doornail.

M. Paul Reboux says outright that Paris is a sad city "that is blighted by taxes, squelched by puritanism, hamstrung with regulations, a Paris that now offers but a spark where formerly shone a flame." Those famous boulevards, of which people have told you so much, M. Reboux finds dreary stretches of deserted main street. You will see, tell foreigners, few Parisians of any sex, and above all, not a single pretty Parisian girl. In the country of Brantome, of Voltaire, of Beranger, of Maupassant, of Pierre Louys, you will have the impression of being at Quebec, at Berne, at Copenhagen or in some gloomy sub-prefecture of the French provinces.

"It is really not worth while making the trip to Paris these days," claims M. Reboux.

Reformers in Paris

Bands of Youths Roam City Destroying Objectionable Magazines—Police Also Take a Hand.

By PIERRE VAN PAASSEN.

PARIS, Feb. 9.—
GROUPS of self-appointed reformers are patrolling the Parisian highways and byways these nights, tearing advertising posters from the walls, raiding magazine stalls and hustling professional guides and tourists into neighboring police stations.

The reformers are not committees of lady vigilantes, but husky and athletic young men, who are under command of the Abbes de Bethleem and Petit Langlade. Every night these champions of morality and order select a different quarter for their demonstrations. Sometimes they make mass attacks, at other times they carry out individual acts of civic patriotism, because their aim is only, they claim, the preservation of the good name of the French capital in the estimation of foreign visitors.

whole personality may be marred with the fear of ridicule. This is to a fear of being laughed at. When crowded because it influences the action not only in relation to a particular situation which is used, but in relation to the estimation of foreign visitors.

The mode of procedure consists in first warning persons whom they consider being offensive against morality. Members of the bands are obliged to enter any shop where there is a book or object of an obscene or suggestive nature openly displayed and to request the article's withdrawal within 24 hours. "Usually our request is promptly granted," said the Abbe Petit Langlade, militant crusader, who leads the street-cleaning movement and who carries 15 medals for bravery in the trenches on his chest.

The argument of greater nutritional value of the "whole wheat" bread has in recent times been somewhat weakened through the addition of milk to the white flour bread.

Longer Wear for Hosiery

WHY try to hide those stains on the mahogany dining table with doilies and scarfs? If you had a set of asbestos lined doilies to place under your hot dishes the stains would not be there. Neither would your dressing table have those white spots, made by spilling the perfume. If you had a blotter underneath the table scarf.

The alcohol in the perfume softens the varnish and when you wiped it the varnish came off with the alcohol. Never try to wipe off any liquid containing alcohol. It should be neutralized by pouring on some oil—sweet or camphorated oil, linseed, or paraffin oil, best, but even butter will do. Just put a few drops of the oil on the stain, rubbing it gently, and let it soak in, then rub off all surplus oil and polish with a soft cloth.

Stains caused by hot dishes should be removed at once. Hot milk or melted butter are always at hand and either of these are effective in fresh stains. Use a mixture of turpentine (one part) and kerosene oil (two parts) for neglected stains.

Breads

IN the matter of white versus the whole grain bread proponents of each type present what at first appears a formidable set of arguments against each other.

The fact, however, is that there are mild virtues on both sides. White flour bread is more palatable and less nutritious, while the whole cereal bread is less palatable but more nutritious.

The argument of greater nutritional value of the "whole wheat" bread has in recent times been somewhat weakened through the addition of milk to the white flour bread.

Furthermore, the whole wheat bread is less readily and less completely digested; so that a portion of the nutritive substance of the bread is lost.

The admittedly larger vitamin content of the whole cereal bread is also less significant than it appears at first, since in the American diet bread plays a relatively minor role and in recent years has been increasingly supplanted by more expensive foods, such as meat, poultry, fish, milk, vegetables and fruits.

These foods offer a rich choice in vitamins and well compensate for any lack that may exist in the milled flour bread.

From a health viewpoint the choice of either type of bread is of minor importance. Propagandists, however, have tried to make a major issue of it. White bread has been spoken of as a deadly menace to mankind. These claims are entirely groundless.

Taste, and not health, is the item to be considered in the choice of bread. It has been experimentally demonstrated that, particularly in the instance of children, the high roughage or bran content of certain of the whole cereal breads produce undesirable and unpleasant effects on the digestive system.

They suspect that the Abbe has the tacit support of the police chief, especially that of M. Jean Chiappe, the Prefect of Paris, who has done more than any other man in a hundred years to take away the smile of Paris." It is charged. This is said in reference to M. ## RENS CHARGED WITH FORGING ENDORSEMENT ON PAY CHECK

St. Louis Legislator Arrested at Jefferson City on Complaint of High School Student After House Clerical Warrant Is Cashed.

RELEASED ON BOND;
HEARING SATURDAY

Second District Representative Had Produced Youth Giving Name of Lawrence G. Huegel From This City.

the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch. JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 12.—Representative Clifford C. Rens of the Second St. Louis District was arrested last night on charges of forging an endorsement on a House clerical payroll warrant and cashing the warrant with the forged endorsement, involving alleged pay-off "padding." He was released on $1000 bond, pending a preliminary hearing Saturday afternoon.

The charges, preferred by Prosecuting Attorney Nike Sevier of Cole County, were based on a complaint signed by Lawrence Huegel, 19-year-old Jefferson City high school student, who asserted that he had been placed on the House clerical payroll by Rens as Rens' personal clerk, but had performed no duties and had not received the salary. The charges, in three counts, involve alleged forgery of Huegel's name by Rens in an endorsement of a payroll warrant for $31.50.

Sevier said Huegel had stated that Rens on two occasions had told him that he had been placed on the House force as Rens' personal clerk, under an alleged arrangement by which Rens would give Huegel several dollars each month during the legislative session.

Mother and Wife Stay Bound.

Rens refused to make any statement when he was arrested by a detective in his room at a hotel about 8 o'clock last night. Sureties on his bond of $1000 were his mother, Mrs. Carolyn Rens, and his wife, Mrs. Alice Rens, who are visiting him. He and his wife reside with the former's mother at 109 Magnolia avenue, St. Louis.

Sevier preferred the charges for Rens and a youth he introduced as Lawrence G. Huegel, of 722 Simpson place, St. Louis, who Rens said was his personal clerk, appeared yesterday at Sevier's office, with an attorney, and refused to submit to questioning by Sevier. The latter has been investigating Rens' clerical appointment and disqualification of the salary.

Complaint Made by Student. Sevier began an investigation of Rens last week, after he had been informed by Lawrence Huegel Jr., that he was on the House clerical force as Rens' clerk but was not receiving the salary. Sevier advised Huegel to call for the check bearing his name on the next House payroll, which Huegel did, the first of this month, receiving a check covering the last two weeks of January at $3.50 a day.

The inquiry developed that when the House clerks were paid for the first nine days of the legislative session, which convened Jan. 7, Rens called for and received a $1.50 check issued to Lawrence Huegel Jr. at the same time Rens received his pay as legislator.

Rens said his personal clerk appointment was a Lawrence Huegel who resided in St. Louis, but said he did not know Huegel's address. He indorsed the $1.50 check with the name of Lawrence Huegel and his own name, retained $8 which he said Huegel owed him, and forwarded the remainder to Sevier in St. Louis.

Rens says he learned the Lawrence Huegel of Jefferson City had received the clerical check for the last two weeks of January, when he called for that check the first of this month. He said this was a mistake and that the check should have gone to the Huegel in St. Louis. Rens said he was acquainted with the Lawrence Huegel Jr. of this city but denied he was the clerk appointed.

Money Through Third Person. When asked how he could forward the money to the Huegel in St. Louis when he did not know the address, Rens said he sent it through a third man in St. Louis whom he refused to name. He
